BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — $3.30 a share and the highest since 1960. Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's second-ranking producer, today reported 1964 profits of $147.9 million, equal to $3.11 per share, 30 per cent higher than 1963.

U.S. Steel, the industry giant, reported Tuesday an 18 per cent jump to $236.3 million or $3.90 a share, up from $203.6 million or

Battle Seen Over Full-Time County Boards

Association Counsel
Warns of Pending
Action on Reform

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The legislative watchdog for Wisconsin county governments has warned its clients that a fight to end part-time representation may result from a move to reapportion county boards.

A. J. Thelen, for 30 years legislative counsel and secretary of the Wisconsin County Boards Association, Tuesday told county courthouse leaders to beware of efforts to amend the Hollander committee bill to achieve so-called "small county boards," which he said would be the vehicle for three to five full-time supervisors who would abandon the "grass roots" idea of county government, require full-time salaries and staffs, and probably boost the cost of the so-called "large" boards.

Hoveida New Iran Premier

Mansour Dies of
Bullet Wounds
From Assassin

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Finance Minister Amir Abbas Hoveida took office today as premier following the death of Hassan Ali Mansour from an assassin's bullet. Hoveida pledged to advance the shah's reform program.

Hoveida made two changes in Mansour's Cabinet and presented the new government to the shah. He named Javad Mansour, brother of the dead premier, as minister of state, and Gen. Hassan Pakrevan as minister of information.

"The new government will pursue Mansour's aims and programs outlined in party programs presented to Parliament last March when Mansour took office," Hoveida said in an interview.

Hoveida, 50, kept the Finance Ministry under his own supervision.

Mansour, 41, was shot last Thursday as he prepared to enter Parliament with new agreements with major oil companies on offshore explorations. Police are holding a 20-year-old part-time student, Mohammed Bokharai, as the gunman. They said Bokharai and a small group of Moslem fanatics he headed plotted the assassination.

Khanh Returned to Power In Viet Nam by Generals

U. S. Unmoved by Coup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The latest government upheaval in South Viet Nam aroused little surprise and no sense of crisis today in official Washington.

U.S. authorities clung to the hope that some kind of civilian administration would yet arise to rule. The United States had strongly backed the regime of Premier Tran Van Huong, now deposed.

It was accepted here that the military commander, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh has enhanced his own power and prestige in toppling the civilian government, yet officials said privately that the new coup does not mean any real shift of power in Saigon because it has been concentrated mainly in the military and Khanh's leadership anyway.

The chief interest here centered on two questions: What policies would the new administration pursue toward prosecuting the war against the Communists; and what, if any, steps would the military leaders be willing to take to rebuild a facade of civilian administration.

Knowles to Revive Turnpike Authority

16-Year-Old Agency May Again
Study Possibility of Toll Roads

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Gov. Warren P. Knowles intends to revive the 16-year-old Wisconsin Turnpike Authority to make an investigation of the feasibility of toll roads. One of his purposes is to explore the possibility of achieving his "dream" of a new Lake Michigan shore route from Milwaukee to Michigan through the Fox River Valley, he told a conference of county highway commissioners and committeemen here Tuesday.

The governor said there is reason to believe the data collected in 1949 which indicated toll roads could not be justified economically are out-dated today.

Merchants in Damascus End 3-Day Strike

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — A three-day strike by Damascus merchants against the government's Socialist program broke up today under the threat of seizure and extreme punishment.

Shutters were raised once more in the old bazaar, and shops opened for business. Although some of the merchants persisted in the strike, it appeared that the right-wing Eisenhower leaves by military jet today en route to London for Syria's Baath party government had failed.

Workers guarded by troops at used sledgehammers to break locks on shops that remained closed.

Practical Approach
"I am interested in talking about practical and realistic approaches to our financial needs," he said, as he sketched for the local road administrators the fiscal problems of meeting the demands for highway expansion and road service improvement.

Knowles addressed sympathetically aspiration of the county highway men for bigger and better road building budgets, but indicated he is skeptical about the acceptability of new highway taxation in the face of the other state finance needs.

He said he is exploring the possibility of some borrowing for the acceleration of the Interstate highway construction program within the state, by way of pledging future federal allotments for the amortization of the loans.

Legislative Message
He also pledged he will deliver a main message to the legislature on highway needs, containing his own recommendations for the amount of new building desired, and means for paying for it.

"I do not go along with those groups who, for politically or purely idealistic purposes, talk

Opposing Buddhists Are Rejoicing, Change Poses New Problems for U. S.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's generals returned Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh to power in a bloodless military coup today and the Buddhist opposition to the civilian government began jubilant celebrations. Khanh charged Premier Tran Van Huong's 3-month-old government had failed to stabilize the chaotic situation in the nation's major cities, impeding the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

The coup posed new problems for the United States, which had hoped civilian government could rally the populace behind the war effort.

The U.S. embassy said in a statement: "Until we can assess more clearly the nature and extent of the important events set in motion this morning, it would be premature for the U.S. mission to comment or render a judgment."

Military Council

Reliable sources said Khanh and the military council he heads had planned the coup for Feb. 2 but decided to pull it off today because U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor was on a trip to Laos and Thailand.

Five leading Buddhist monks

who had been making a "fast to the death" to bring down Premier Huong began eating late this afternoon.

An estimated 4,000 supporters flocked into the Buddhist headquarters, which previously had been barred to them by paratroopers, and dragged the beds on which the monks had been resting into the streets.

Buddhist Appeal

The Buddhist hierarchy broadcast an appeal "to all chapters throughout the country" to cease the antigovernment campaign.

Authorities prepared for trouble as reports circulated that Buddhist mobs would sack newspapers which opposed the Buddhist campaign against Huong.

Police had orders to use tear gas to disperse them. Khanh called in Deputy U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson to tell him of the military takeover.

By the time Taylor returned to Saigon, Khanh had left the capital for his seaside headquarters at Vung Tau. "Now it's Taylor or Khanh," a Vietnamese officer said. "One or the other has to go."

Khanh is understood to have made the recall of the ambassador one of his prime objectives. From the standpoint of the Vietnamese government, the coup was more apparent than real. Khanh had never released the real reins of power and had made it clear since Dec. 20 — when he pulled a partial coup — that Huong was staying in office only on his sufferance.

Second Indian Burns to Death

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — An Indian soaked his clothes with kerosene and burned to death in Madras today in the second fiery suicide protesting the change from English to Hindi as India's official language.

In Chidambaram, a town 120 miles down the coast of the southeastern state, a college student was killed and another critically wounded when police opened fire on a rioting mob.

Despite pleas for calm by Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri and other leaders, violence erupted for the third day in the port city of Madras and elsewhere in the tropical Tamil Nadu state. Hindi is almost unknown there and is a hated symbol of north Indian political supremacy.

7 Major Upheavals In South Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ngo Dinh Diem was led by Brig. Gen. Lam Van Phat was foiled by a group of young generals who became known as the "Young Turks." Remaining loyal to Khanh, they became steadily more powerful.

In the 15 months since Diem's overthrow, South Viet Nam has had seven major government upheavals and rarely has been without political turbulence or the threat of it.

These were key political events in those 15 months: Nov. 1, 1963 — The reign of Diem ended as he and his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, were slain. Gen. Duong Van Minh proclaimed himself head of a ruling military junta.

Jan. 3, 1964 — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh replaced Minh in a swift, bloodless coup.

Aug. 16 — Khanh was named president by the military's Revolutionary Council, which promulgated a new constitution giving Khanh extraordinary emergency powers. The move touched off rioting by Buddhists.

Aug. 27 — With street fighting at its peak, the Revolutionary Council named a triumvirate to head the government and Khanh reverted to premier.

Aug. 29 — Khanh "resigned" for reasons of health and Nguyen Xuan Oanh, a civilian, became acting premier. The constitution of Aug. 16 was scrapped.

Sept. 5 — Khanh returned as premier and began to revamp the government lineup in a bow to the Buddhists.

Voting for the proposal were Democrats Henry Reuss and Lynn Stalbaum and Republicans John Byrnes, Glenn Davis, Melvin Laird and Alvin O'Konski. Democrats opposed included Robert Kastenmeier, John Rarab and Clement Zablocki. Republican Vernon Thomson was not recorded in the vote.

Intermarriage Dispute Left To State Court

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A member of a three-judge federal court took the view today that a matter as sensitive to the social structure of the South as marriage between whites and Negroes should first be ruled upon by state courts.

But, said U.S. Dist. Judge Oren R. Lewis from the bench in a case brought by the American Civil Liberties Union to test the constitutionality of laws against mixed marriages, he wanted to see the issue squarely presented.

Lewis said he agreed to abstain from a ruling in the Prince Edward County school case on a constitutional issue but neither side presented the issue squarely to the Virginia Supreme Court.

Bernard S. Cohen, an attorney for Richard Perry Loving, 31, a white construction worker, and his wife, Mildred Jeter, 25, part Indian and part Negro, principals in the test case, immediately urged the federal court to act rather than deferring to the state court.

35 Definite Resignations

Interrogations Continue in Air Force Academy Cheating

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Fidgety cadets continue to parade before a special board of officers at a secret hideout in the investigation of cheating at the U.S. Air Force Academy. The probe may stretch into weeks.

Rumors and counter-rumors fly over the picturesque 18,000-acre campus at the foot of the Rocky Mountains. Administrators have clamped a tight gag on everyone connected with the school.

Faculty Member
A Colorado Springs newspaper reported that a faculty member was involved in the case. More than 100 cadets, including 30 members of the football team, have been implicated.

"No member of the faculty or the coaching staff is in any way involved," said Col. Richard Haney, chief of the information office. Another rumor had a group of Air Force football players contacting a West Coast university on the prospects of enrolling Zuckert for review. The entire process might take 30 to 60 days.

The coach of the university said, "I have talked to no Air Force cadets."

One cadet, disdaining the original figure to date at 35, although unofficial but informed per reporter that football coach Ben Martin would have only eight varsity players back next Monday, joining the 29 announced by the academy last week.

"We assume every one of the players and boys implicated will resign rather than face court-martial," an academy spokesman said, missing from their places. "It's the best way out, but it's a slow process."

The academy admitted that until the cadets are mustered out of the administration: build-out of service — a period that could cover 30 to 60 days after resigning — they are not permitted to talk of the case to anyone, not even their parents.

Robert H. Warren, made the announcement in a 112-word statement which also said the investigation was painstaking this under threat of court-martial and probably would last until Feb. 10. After that, he said, the results will be forwarded to Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. conducted remains a secret.

only in terms of what should be done and refuse to face up to the practical facts of life," he said immediately after his disclosure that he wants to reactivate the turnpike agency.

"There must be some understanding and recognition that taxpayers and the travelling public must foot the bill," he added, in what appeared to be an appeal to the influential courthouse leaders to persuade the public about the fiscal implications of any significant extension of the present Wisconsin road improvement program.

Toll Road Act

Knowles has been an admirer of the toll method during his entire public career and was the author of the 1949 legislative act which set up the turnpike authority.

That agency made extensive engineering and economic studies at the time, found that toll construction would be more costly in Wisconsin than in other parts of the country because of the peculiarities of the Wisconsin terrain including the numerous lakes and rivers, and reported that toll receipts would probably not be sufficient to make toll road bonds saleable.

The idea lapsed then, but the agency is technically alive under the law that was never repealed. It could resume its work with a legislative appropriation for further studies.

Johnson Says More Space Advances Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today the national space program has made "substantial strides in a very brief span of time — and more are to come."

"We expect to explore the moon, not just visit it or photograph it," Johnson said in a letter to Congress submitting his review of aeronautics and space activities in 1964.

"We plan to explore and chart planets as well," he said.

"We shall expand our earth laboratories into space laboratories and extend our national strength into the space dimension."

U. S. Purpose

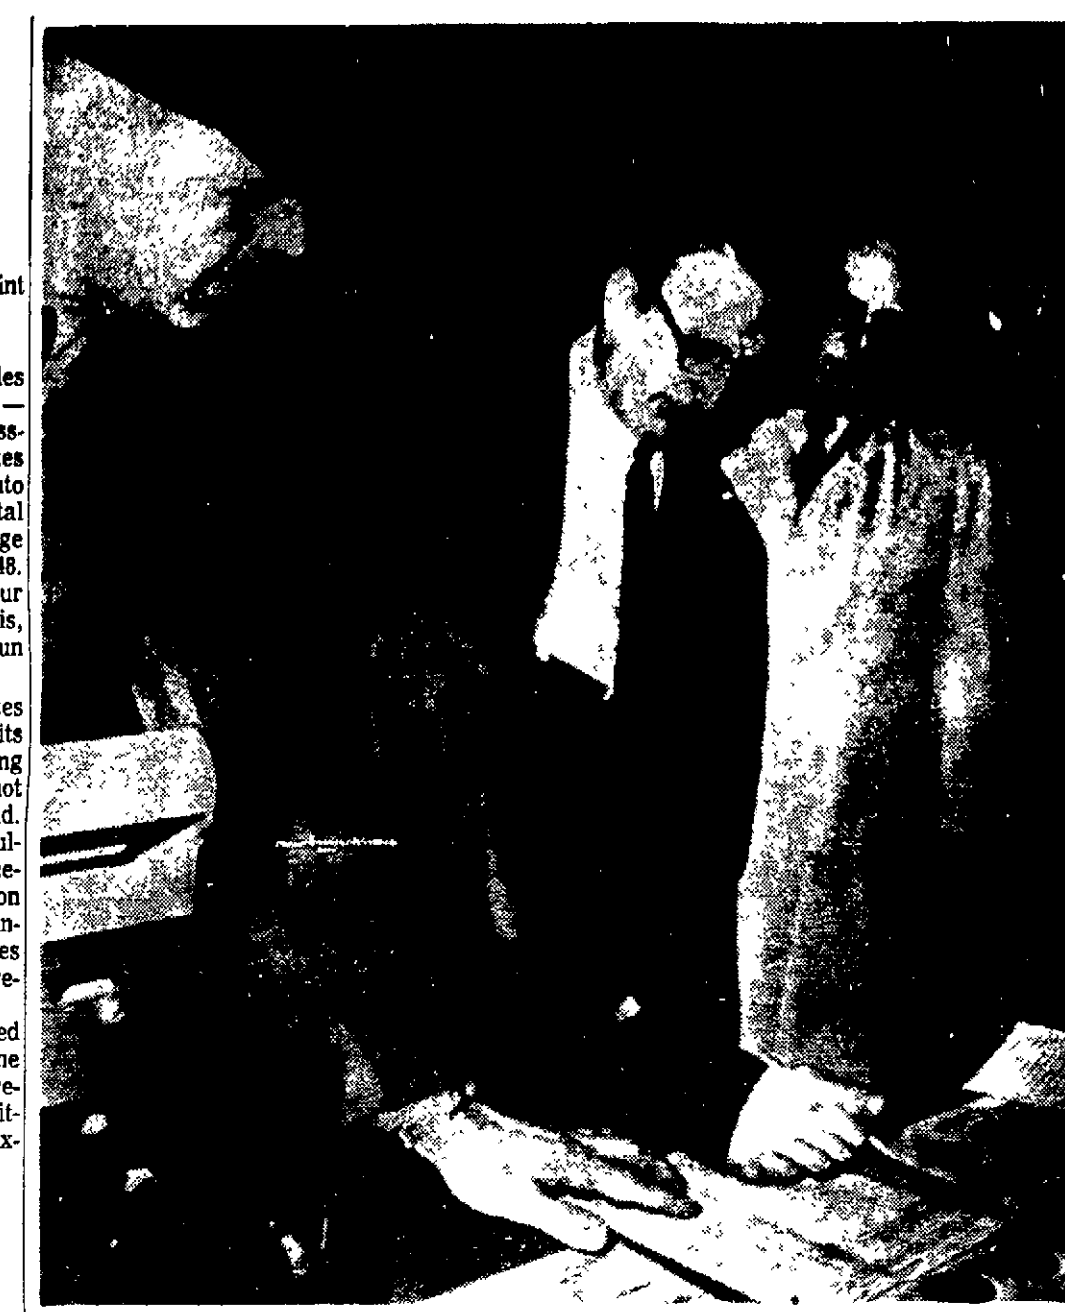

Johnson said the American purpose remains as expressed in the earliest days of the space age, unchanged and unwavering.

"We are determined that space shall be an avenue toward peace and we both invite and welcome all men to join with us in this great opportunity," he said.

Johnson added that advances during 1964 were "gratifying and heartening omens of the gains and good to come from our determined national undertaking in exploring the frontiers of space."

"While this great enterprise is still young, we began during the year past to realize its potential in our life on earth," he said.

"As this report notes, practical uses of the benefits of space technology were almost commonplace around the globe — warning us of gathering storms, guiding our ships at sea, assisting our mapmakers and serving, most valuably of all, to bring the peoples of many na-

State Administrative Revamp Clears Hurdle

MADISON (AP) — Efforts to place responsibility for reorganizing state administrative agencies with the governor cleared one hurdle Tuesday, but an attempt to limit state departments to 20 was temporarily sidetracked.

Following the first public hearings of the 1965 Legislature, the Assembly judiciary committee recommended for passage a resolution that would change the constitution to give the chief executive power to initiate reorganization.

However, it tabled a second resolution seeking to limit the number of state departments and created a special three-man committee to prepare a specific reorganization plan.

Both Approaches

The move to table the resolution was opposed by committee chairman Frank Nikolay, D-Abbott, although he said he did not oppose the idea of drawing up a specific plan. Nikolay said he preferred to proceed with both approaches at the same time.

If the special committee can agree on a plan, a bill will be drafted incorporating its recommendations, which could be enacted into law this session. The resolution calling for a constitutional amendment would have to pass two successive legislatures and a statewide referendum.

Members of the committee are Democrats Albert Tadych and Thomas Schaus, both of Milwaukee, and Thomas Barland, R-Eau Claire.

Question Rigidity

Several Republican members questioned the rigidity of constitutionally limiting state departments to 20. At present, there are more than 80 state agencies.

Assembly Minority Leader Robert Haase, R-Marquette, also noted that no specific plan had ever been submitted to the Legislature for its approval. Because of this, past legislatures have not approved general administrative reorganization schemes, he said.

"Why not draft a plan ourselves, submit it and see if it's accepted or rejected? That's what we're going to have to do in the end," he said.

In the public hearing on the two resolutions, Nikolay testified that state government organization and management had "utterly failed" to keep up with the times.

Attack Problem

"We must attack this problem at once. We don't need further study groups. We already have a stack of study group reports."

"Action is not only justified, but is essential now," he said.

Democratic Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey also spoke in favor of giving the chief executive power to reorganize administrative agencies, citing the need to increase departmental efficiency and to fix "firm responsibility" for their operation.

"We have never given the governor sufficient authority to function as chief administrator," Lucey said. "If he is to fulfill his administrative responsibilities, then the governor must have the authority to set his own house in order."

There was no expressed opposition to the general reorganization proposals in the hearing.

The committee also recommended the passage of two bills.

One would increase the number of judges on the State Advisory Council for Home and Family from two to three. The other would allow certain affidavits in divorce actions to be filed any time before the trial instead of before the mailing and publication of the summons and complaint.

Merrily He Rolls; Once More and the Policeman Will Flip

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — State patrolman Bobby Miller answered a 6:45 p.m. call Tuesday and found a small sports car overturned beside a rural road.

The driver, Don Henry Brown, 21, of the Whitehouse community, told Miller another car had pulled into his path from one side, he swerved to miss it and his vehicle upset. Miller drove him home.

At 7:50 p.m. the officer received another call. This time he found a compact automobile upside down in another rural road. Beside it stood Brown, who said the car was his sister's and it flipped as he avoided a car halted in the middle of the roadway.

Miller took Brown, unhurt in either accident, home a second time.

3 in Race For 2 Seats In High Court

MADISON (AP) — The deadline for filing papers for the March 9 primary to select candidates for a State Supreme Court seat passed Tuesday with only three entries.

Seeking one of two spots in the April 6 election for the court post paying $24,000 annually for a 10-year term will be Justice Nathan S. Heffernan, appointed to bench last year; Howard Boyle Jr., a Beaver Dam attorney and Sheboygan County Judge Joseph Wilkus.

Former Atty. Gen. George Thompson, who was defeated in a bid for re-election last Nov. 3, announced he would seek the high court court seat. However, he did not file nomination papers.

Thompson was not available immediately for comment.

The only other statewide spring election will have two candidates. State Superintendent of Public Instruction Angus B. Rothwell will be opposed by Arlyn F. Olenburg of Oshkosh.

Wollenburg, 43-year-old former school teacher, ran unsuccessfully for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate in 1962. Last year he failed as a Democratic primary candidate against Sen. William Proxmire.

Krebiozen Complaint Dismissed

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal judge dismissed Tuesday as "impossible to answer" a 250-page complaint by 14 persons, 12 of them cancer sufferers, asking unrestricted interstate distribution of Krebiozen.

The Federal Food and Drug Administration has ruled that Krebiozen is without merit as a cancer treatment and has forbidden interstate transportation.

The suit also asked $280,000 in damages for the 14 who sued.

Judge Bernard M. Decker of U.S. District Court told the plaintiffs' lawyer to prepare a new complaint within 20 days.

Thomas W. James, assistant U.S. district attorney who asked for dismissal, declared the suit contained scandalous statements.

Defendants in the suit filed Jan. 8 include the American Medical Association, the American Cancer Society, the National Cancer Institute and their officers, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, the Secretary of the Department of

Fox Cities Area Vocational School Proposals Backed

Five Local Boards Will Consider Detailed Reorganization Proposal

A detailed plan of organization for a Fox Cities area vocational school won the support of a joint study committee Tuesday and will be presented to the five local vocational and adult school boards.

Endorsement of the plan, developed after almost a year of study, will be sought at a joint meeting of the five full boards in Kimberly High School on March 16.

The area plan then will be presented to the public school boards in Appleton, Kimberly, Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha. According to Wisconsin statutes, an area board of vocational and adult education is created by joint resolution of the boards of contiguous high school districts.

The plan proposes creation of a seven-member area board, to be assisted by a local advisory board responsible for local adult programs in each of the five communities. The chairman of each local board would be a member of the area board.

Main Point

This proposal apparently resolves the main point at issue during the study committee's debates on formation of an area school. While there was general support of the need of an area school for post-high school vocational and technical programs, some committee members were concerned about continuation and control of local programs under an area organization.

Initially some attempts were made to develop a plan which would retain the present five local boards and add an area board responsible for area programs. State officials said this type of plan would not be approved.

The present plan was approved by Clarence Greiber, state director of vocational and adult education, who saw it while he was in Appleton Tuesday morning.

Greiber said the plan would meet the approval of the state board and he would recommend it, according to Appleton Vocational School Director Carl Bertram.

The detailed plan for organization and operation of an area school was developed by the five vocational school directors at the request of the study committee. It covers programs and estimated enrollment in an area school finances, continuation of local programs and the plan of administration.

George Howden, study committee chairman and president of the Neenah school board, said the plan would be presented to the public school boards on March 16.

Four Contests For Alderman At Kaukauna

Seven Candidates Seek 3 Places on Board of Education

KAUKAUNA—Four aldermanic posts will be contested and seven candidates will be running for the three seats on the board of education as a result of papers filed with Karl Marzahl, city clerk, prior to the 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline.

Main interest in the election appears to be in the school board race where six city residents and one resident of the outlying area of the district are seeking office. Incumbents running include Leo Driessen, Richard Eslen and Robert Main. New candidates are Lawrence Beck, the rural representative, Marvin Miller, Joseph Schouten and Joseph Steger Jr. Aldermanic races developed in the First Ward where Arnold Vander Loop, incumbent, is being opposed by Robert Wieseler, the Second Ward, where David Specht, incumbent, is being opposed by Lloyd Kloehn and Frank Merckx, the Third Ward where Richard Helf, incumbent, is being opposed by Gerald Klarer, and the Fourth Ward where Russell Dix, incumbent, is opposed by Henry Drechsler, principal of Nicolet School.

Openings Reported In Second Semester Recreation Art Class

KAUKAUNA—Students interested in joining second semester art classes, sponsored by the recreation department, may enroll by attending one of the regularly scheduled classes Saturday.

New students are requested to call the recreation office or Mrs. Roger Belling to find out the time in which their age group meets, thus permitting them to work with students on the same age level.

Kaukauna Board Increases Teacher Base Pay to $5,050

Reduce Family Head Allowance To $250; Maximum Salary $8,315

KAUKAUNA—The Kaukauna Board of Education Tuesday raised the base pay for teachers per each activity outside regular school hours. The adjustment raised the maximum pay for a teacher with a master's degree after 21 years service to $8,315 per year.

A $100 raise to $4,850 was granted to teachers having three years and 15 credits. Other base increases were held at $150. A $10 raise in increment steps up to 21 years was approved. New increment steps are now $150, $160 and $185.

Board members also voted to increase reimbursement for summer school attendance from $15 to $25 per credit. In a step to eliminate the existing $400 school term.

The board asked the architect to increase the floor space of the proposed new elementary school by 496 square feet by providing 4-foot extensions at two wings of the buildings.

Board members had learned the kindergarten, band rooms and vocal rooms were not sufficiently large, according to state recommendations.

Meet With Architect

The type of ceiling and roof for the new school were discussed but board members were unable to agree. They authorized a special meeting with George Narovec, architect, on the problem.

Hiring an additional second grade teacher for Park School in 1965-66 was approved after preliminary studies showed a marked enrollment increase in this category. The resignation of Miss Arlene Rusch as kindergarten teacher at Park School was approved and Miss Shelby Lemke was hired as guidance teacher for the coming year.

The resignation of Miss Lemke formerly was a recommendation in two weeks during heavy traffic girls' physical education in periods narrowed the south side street, thus the school will regulate parking at the east end of the street down to one lane for moving vehicles, and posed for the next school term.

Approval was given to provide hot lunch without charge to needy families and the superintendent was authorized to take steps to collect delinquent school bills from those deemed able to pay.

Bill Proposes Two State Universities

Large Bill Asks $2.4 Million For Acquisition, Planning of Valley, Racine-Kenosha Sites

Delay Talks on Port Contract At Winnebago

North Central Asks Postponement Until CAB Judicial Review

OSHKOSH—Postponement of negotiations for a new contract with North Central Airlines until after the judicial review of the Civil Aeronautics Board decision was approved by the aviation committee of the Winnebago County Board Tuesday night.

The postponement was requested by John Dow, secretary and properties manager of North Central.

Dow agreed in a telephone conversation relayed to Chairman Alvin Staffeldt, Neenah, that the contract when reached would be retroactive to Jan. 1.

His request came in reply to a letter from the committee inquiring when information on contracts North Central has with other airports might be received. Dow had promised to send such information when he met in December with the committee.

Asks Increase

The committee is asking for an increase in the landing fees and for information as to what expansion might be necessary for North Central quarters in the terminal building.

Dow had indicated at the December meeting the airline would be agreeable to 5 per cent increase in its landing fee and to changing flat rate per landing to a rate for each 1,000 pounds of gross weight landing.

Dow pointed out then that the Winnebago County could not expect the same rate paid at other airports. Members of the committee are to include representatives of the State Building Commission, the Co-ordinating Committee for Higher Education and members of the Winnebago County Airport.

MADISON—A bill appropriating $2.4 million to finance planning and site acquisition for establishing two new four-year state universities, one in the Fox Valley area, has been approved unanimously by the committee on labor, taxation, insurance and banking and referred to the education committee of the State Senate.

The bill, drafted by Sen. Gerald Lorge (R-Black Creek), declares both collegiate institutions are to be established as soon as practical and instructs the Co-ordinating Committee for Higher Education to designate whether the new institutions are to be governed by the University of Wisconsin board of regents or the State College board of regents.

The measure also instructs the governor to appoint a committee to select sites for the new schools. Recommended Unanimously

The committee on labor, taxation, insurance and banking, of which Lorge is chairman, has unanimously recommended the bill for passage.

The measure instructs the State Building Commission to appropriate the $2.4 million to draft plans, make surveys, acquire land, install utilities and other allied purposes in connection with the site and construction of buildings and facilities for the new schools.

One is designated for the Fox Valley area, to be known as the University of Northeastern Wisconsin, while the other, in the Racine-Kenosha area is to be known as the University of Southeastern Wisconsin.

To Name Committee

The measure also instructs the governor to appoint a special committee to select the sites for the schools. Members of the committee are to include representatives of the State Building Commission, the Co-ordinating Committee for Higher Education and members of the Winnebago County Airport.

Heart Fund Campaign Will Begin Feb. 3

1965 Drive Opens With Solicitation Of Appleton Business

Appleton will open the 1965 Heart Fund campaign Feb. 3 with business solicitation, according to Don C. Smith, 1702 Ravinia Place, who heads the Wisconsin Heart Association's month-long campaign here.

Calvin Falk, Donald Conner, co-chairmen of the business division, said their volunteers would canvass the city's business firms, stores and shopping centers through Feb. 9. More than 75 volunteers will solicit for this phase of the campaign which seeks to raise funds to support research, education and community service programs in the fight against the heart diseases.

"Businessmen in our community have a vital stake in the Heart Association's fight against diseases of the heart and blood vessels," Falk said. "They pose a constant threat to our community's economic welfare by afflicting executives and skilled workers in their most productive years. Years of training and investment can be wiped out by these diseases," he said.

Research Advances

"Medical research supported by Heart Fund dollars has made many advances," Falk said. "Since 1950, statistics show the first relatively sustained decline in the cardiovascular death rate of U. S. males 45 through 64 years old. This decrease in death rates amounts to about seven and one-half per cent. It is significant, we believe, that this improvement has been achieved during the life span of the Heart Fund."

Falk asked the city's businessmen to "remember these facts when a volunteer solicitor calls for a contribution. It is one of the best investments you can make in your life and for the economic social welfare of our community."

Statistics show heart and blood vessel diseases to be the leading cause of death in Outagamie County during 1963, according to figures compiled

City Officials Seeing Red

Telephone Company Officials Not Alarmed Over Emergency System

Some city officials are seeing red over complaints about the new emergency reporting telephone system for fires and emergencies. But Wisconsin Telephone Co. officials say there is no cause for alarm.

These are the developments after it was disclosed earlier in the week that Fire Chief Roland Kuehnl issued an inter-departmental order covering the subject of false alarms.

The fire department claims that since the new reporting system went into operation, it has been deluged with false alarms. However, Chief Kuehnl and telephone company officials say undue publicity will irritate the situation.

Answer All Calls

At any rate, the city council's public safety committee Tuesday night ordered Kuehnl to have his department answer every call or signal it receives through the on-street red call boxes whether there is a possibility of a false alarm or not.

Kuehnl gave assurance the fire department would respond to all calls or alarms, and not send a police squad car out on a false alarm was suspected.

The system is new here and we are bound to have some things which will have to be worked out," Kuehnl told the committee.

"We made a check with other cities that put in the system and the telephone company apparently were not wired properly but the problem was immediately corrected.

"If you are having trouble with the kids on these false alarms, it is a matter of education and you should ask the schools to help out," observed Ald. Arthur Mueller (19th).

Kuehnl said fire department and telephone company personnel had talked to students and explained the system when it was installed.

There was some question whether the department actually received as many false alarms as it claimed. There have been instances in which police officers using the phones Aliens living in Wisconsin were reminded by the Milwaukee office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service that Sunday is the deadline for filing mission address report forms as required under provisions of the 1952 Immigration and Nationality Act.

R. A. Klein, officer in charge of the Milwaukee office, said that failure to file reports by the deadline may result in penalties.

Incumbents in 9th, 11th, 15th Wards Not Seeking Re-Election

Fischer, operator of a car wash business here, did not take out nomination papers for alderman but did file for county supervisor, a post he has held the past eight years. He will be unopposed in his bid for another term on the county board.

However, in pre-filing activity four residents of the 15th Ward—Richard G. Huismann, 1002 N. Superior St., an employee at Tuttle Press and alderman for three years, and Mrs. Rose Schroeder, 224 E. Washington St., a housewife.

Ruel Falk, newly-elected president of the Wisconsin Business Education Association will be master of ceremonies. Assisting with arrangements for the meeting will be Miss Dorothy Burdorff, Miss Edith Cumming, Miss Jean Sholtz and Kenneth Schumeling, business education teachers at NHS.

The state board of bar commissioners filed charges against Porath questioning his conduct and activities as an attorney. While filing the judgment meant automatic disbarment, Porath can apply to be reinstated. At that time he must also prove the charge brought against him in the original petition.

NEENAH — Rufin J. Skiba, chairman of Winnebago County Democratic Party, announced John Durand, field director of the State Democratic Party, will address the county meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in Valley Inn. Election of Officers will be held.

Skiba said he is not a candidate for re-election. Paul

Long Distance Phone Rates To be Reduced

First Stage of $100 Million Cut Effective Monday

The first phase of a $100 million interstate long distance telephone rate reduction will become effective next Monday.

The reduction, the largest such rate cut ever announced, will trim the evening and night costs of three-minute, station-to-station calls across the continental United States.

According to the Wisconsin Telephone Co., the reduction means that present night rates ("after 9") will apply after 8 p.m. daily and anytime Sunday on calls over 220 miles to points outside Wisconsin. From Wisconsin, the maximum charge will be 90 cents for a call to any other point in the continental United States, excluding Alaska.

At no place in the nation will the cost for a three-minute, station-to-station call exceed $1.

There will be some reductions in the evening rate (6 to 8 p.m. beginning Monday) on calls to points more than 430 miles away within the continental United States, excluding Alaska.

Evening rate also will apply all day Saturday from 4:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Comparison

Evenings, from 6 to 9 p.m., the present rate is $1.50 for calls to points outside Wisconsin and the new rate will be $1.30.

Nights, the present rate of 90 cents starts at 9 a.m. Under the new schedule, this rate will begin one hour earlier—8 p.m. Saturdays, all day until 6 p.m., the present rate is $1.95; the new rate will be $1.30 all day until 8 p.m., after which the lower night rate takes effect. Sundays, all day until 9 p.m., the present rate is $1.50, with the night rate applying after 9 p.m.

A Wisconsin Telephone Co. truck lies on its side at the bottom of a 35-foot-deep ravine after the driver, Charles Zarter, 321 W. Matthew St., Kimberly, lost control of the truck Tuesday in snow that had drifted across County Trunk K two miles south of Waupaca. The truck rolled end over end down the embankment. parking at this narrow end of the avenue is strictly your idea, I found out — not Lawrence University or the merchants," Stumpf told Ahrens. Stumpf said he had received letters from the university and others in the area supporting the committee's original recommendation.

There are several residents who say they want the parking on the avenue, Ahrens replied, reminding he had the matter referred back so others could be heard.

"Well, I'm not going to let anyone pressure me and I am going to fight for this recommendation because it is for the good of the City of Appleton... not just a few people," Stumpf declared.

Marvin O. Wrostad, university business manager, told the committee there was no objection to removing parking between Rankin and Union Streets. It was noted university students are not permitted to have cars and were not the present parking limitations.

Ald. John Ayers (12th) said the present parking limitations were not stringent enough to cope with the traffic problem, and explained the answer was to get all parking off E. College Avenue between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. as the committee recommended.

Because the ban was also proposed by the city parking commission, the matter will be discussed by that group when it meets at the city hall tonight.

pushed the wrong button which caused a signal at the fire department.

It was generally felt the new system was working out well in handling fire calls and other emergencies.

Study Sources of Calls Richard Van Sistine, manager of the telephone company's Appleton office, suggested today that it might be well to make a study of the times and places of the alleged false alarms.

"The reporting equipment is functioning perfectly," Van Sistine said. He said there had been no problems in other cities as Kuehl indicated.

He thought the problem had been blown out of proportion by the publicity it was given.

The City of Appleton leases the reporting system from the telephone company for about $13,00 a year.

by the Wisconsin Heart Association from official State Board of Health records.

The heart diseases, which include heart attack, stroke, decline in the cardiovascular hardening of the arteries, rheumatic fever, high blood pressure, inborn heart defects and many other disorders, caused 421 county deaths during 1963.

This figure is 53 per cent of the total deaths for the twelve-month period.

The county figures closely parallel those compiled for all Wisconsin which lists the heart diseases responsible for 57 per cent of total deaths. National figures compiled by the National Office of Vital Statistics for 1963, the latest summary available, lists heart deaths as 54 per cent of total deaths.

"Although the heart diseases continue to be our number one health problem, there is progress being made to stem the tide," said Smith. "Indicative of the advances being made through heart research is the seven and one-half per cent decline in the cardiovascular death rate of American males, 45 to 64 years, since 1950," he said.

Driver Unhurt As Truck Rolls Into Ravine

WAUPACA—A truck driver who was wearing his seat belt escaped injury Tuesday when his truck skidded out of control south of here and rolled down an embankment into a 35-foot-deep ravine.

Charles Zarter, 24, 321 S. Matthew St., Kimberly, driver of a Wisconsin Telephone Co. van-type truck, lost control of the vehicle after hitting snow which had drifted across County Trunk K. The mishap occurred two miles south of Waupaca at 1:30 p.m.

The truck went over the edge of the ravine and rolled end over end at least once before coming to a rest on its side more than 76 feet from the highway. Both Zarter and Waupaca County Police Captain John Penney said that the seat belt perhaps was the contributing factor in saving Zarter from injury or possible death.

The truck, loaded with equipment, was extensively damaged.

Joint Vocational School Proposal Wins Support

of the Appleton board, urged the committee to move ahead with the plan in order to be prepared to apply for federal and state funds for construction. "Unless we are prepared to apply for these funds, someone will be ahead of us," he said. "They will most likely come on a first come, first served basis. If we do not show interest by applying, those funds will be allocated elsewhere."

Bertram, who prepared the finances section of the plan, projected a mill rate for both area and local programs of .913, well below the 2 mills allowed by state law for vocational school purposes. With an area school, the mill rate would be applied to equalized rather than assessed valuation. Local taxes and state and federal aids would provide a projected budget of $1,404,777.

At this mill rate, "it is evident that to finance the present local programs as well as an expanded area program becomes feasible and reasonable," Bertram said.

Further, there is reason to believe that income from other than local tax sources will increase, he said. Proposed legislation would increase state aids and an area program would be eligible for assistance under existing federal laws, he said.

There also is a proposal to permit use of the 2 mills not only for operating expenditures but also for capital expenditures.

The area school could offer 46 post-high school vocational and technical programs in business, industry, health, service and agriculture fields and special adult programs, said Dominic Bordini, director of the Kaukauna Vocational School. Only 16 of the projected courses are part of present programs.

Bordini projected a minimum enrollment in the post-high school programs of 1,000 to 1,250 students, based on a survey of 30 high schools in the area to be served by the school. Many college dropouts also might enroll in technical programs, he added, and the increasing cost of college education may encourage students to enroll in program.

Study committee members asked if the enrollment is from Appleton, Kimberly, Kaukauna and Neenah indicated that "If we create a quality '100 per cent support' for the program with a good variety of area plan. The joint committee educational purposes, it will be made up of one board member and the director from more than we have projected," each of the five schools. Both a substantial portion of the Neenah members were absent Tuesday due to illness.

living in the programs planned, and "a real pressure in enrollment" is expected, he said.

Bertram explained state aid policies are being planned so that tuition and state aids will cover the cost of educating non-resident students attending the area school and they will not become a tax liability to the area in which the school is located.

Area Interest

Surrounding communities, such as Hortonville, have indicated interest in becoming part of any area development, he said. "I think that if you develop an area school based on the five Fox Cities districts, you will find that other areas will vigorously seek to become part of such a program."

Noting that a major concern has been continuation of local programs, Neenah Vocational School Director Dan Danielson said under an area organization most local plans would continue as at present, with a local administrator, local supervision and office and custodial staffs.

Locally oriented programs include general adult courses, homemaking courses—probably the largest category, evening business courses, apprentice programs, some trade extension courses, program to compulsory age students (under 18), and services to high schools, he said.

The plan provides that all post-high school, full-time programs would be housed in a central area school, as would such apprentice or community adult programs as could best be served by the special facilities there. Other local programs would be offered in each community.

Unique Plan

Bertram presented the plan for administration in the absence of Menasha Vocational School Director H. L. Sherman due to illness. It is unique in that the chairman of the local advisory board would be a member of the area board, he said, and this would give assurance that "the area board would be weighted heavily to protect the local concept."

The plan calls for an area board made up of two employers, two employees, two farmers and one school administrator, with each district having at least one member. A single chief school administrator would be responsible for the total program.

Study committee members from Appleton, Kimberly, Kaukauna and Neenah indicated that "If we create a quality '100 per cent support' for the program with a good variety of area plan. The joint committee educational purposes, it will be made up of one board member and the director from more than we have projected," each of the five schools. Both a substantial portion of the Neenah members were absent Tuesday due to illness.

Planners Back Bill to Protect River Banks

Fearing that the life expectancy of Wisconsin rivers is being endangered by siltation and bank erosion, the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission is backing a bill which would authorize state participation in a stream bank stabilization program.

The planning group, established by former Gov. Gaylord Nelson to study and make recommendations for the wise use of natural resources in the eight counties of the Wolf River Valley, is sponsoring a state constitutional amendment.

When drafted by legislative representatives in the Wolf River region, the way will be cleared for action by state agencies to aid in protecting Wisconsin streams, according to Gordon Bubolz, Appleton, commission chairman.

Tying in with the move to obtain state participation in stream bank improvement and rehabilitation is the grant of $140,000 in federal funds which were obtained at the request of the commission for use in Outagamie, Waupaca and Winnebago Counties, Bubolz said.

These funds can be used to match expenditures by private landowners and the Wisconsin Conservation Commission for work done to provide level ditching for wildlife habitat improvement, maintenance of water levels, stream improvement and riverbank protection. The funds will be administered by the state Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee.

State legislative act orders all to have voting machines by Sept. 1, 1966.

That the electronic machines might be the answer was expressed here Monday by Ed Johnson, executive director of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

Fall in Line

Neenah, Menasha and several communities in Outagamie County do not have voting machines and will have to fall in line next year.

Assemblyman Earl McEsey (R-Fond du Lac) authored the legislation which would permit use of the electronic data machines which cost about $150 each, compared to $1,700 for mechanical voting machines.

Johnson explained the procedures involved in marking IBM cards instead of the paper ballots, used in some parts of the state.

Counting Center

Instead of counting the ballots (IBM cards) at the polling site, they would be sealed in a container and sent to a vote-counting center.

The cards would be fed through the electronic computers, coming up with election results in a matter of minutes.

"This new system could represent a real breakthrough in getting communities to install machines," Johnson commented. He said the new type machines are now in use in other states.

Recommend Use

The elections committee of the state legislative council and the League's executive committee have recommended the new machines be recognized in Wisconsin.

"A community could use electronic data machines even if they have conventional machines now," Johnson explained.

He emphasized, however, the use of the electronic data or regular voting machine would be optional — just so the paper ballot system was abolished.

MADISON (AP) — More than 12,000 Wisconsin residents have contributed $44,119 to the John F. Kennedy memorial fund, Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, state drive chairman, reported today.

Health Plan To be Offered For Men, Sons

Class Sponsored by Y's Men's Clubs to Facilitate Counseling

A health education program for boys in the eighth and ninth grades and their fathers will be sponsored by the Appleton and Frank Harwood Y's Men's Clubs of the Appleton YMCA from Feb. 8 through March 1.

The objective of the program is to facilitate the normal counseling relationship of father and son in the areas of health, sex and social education, according to Thomas W. Klentz, Y youth and camp director. This program is to act as a supplement for teaching done in the home, he said.

Fathers and their sons must attend the sessions together. The program is planned to provide a common ground of knowledge and a closer companionship between father and son, thus facilitating a better counseling relationship, Klentz explained.

No Father

Where there is no father in the home, the boy's mother must enroll him in the program and he will be accompanied to the sessions by a Y's Man.

The course will consist of four sessions, meeting from 7 to 8 p.m. in the YMCA on consecutive Mondays from Feb. 8 to March 1. At the first session, entitled "How and Why You Grow," Dr. Paul Hodges Jr. will discuss how the glands of the body affect the growth process.

Dr. Darrell Slette will discuss how boys grow into manhood at the second session, entitled "Sons Will Become Fathers."

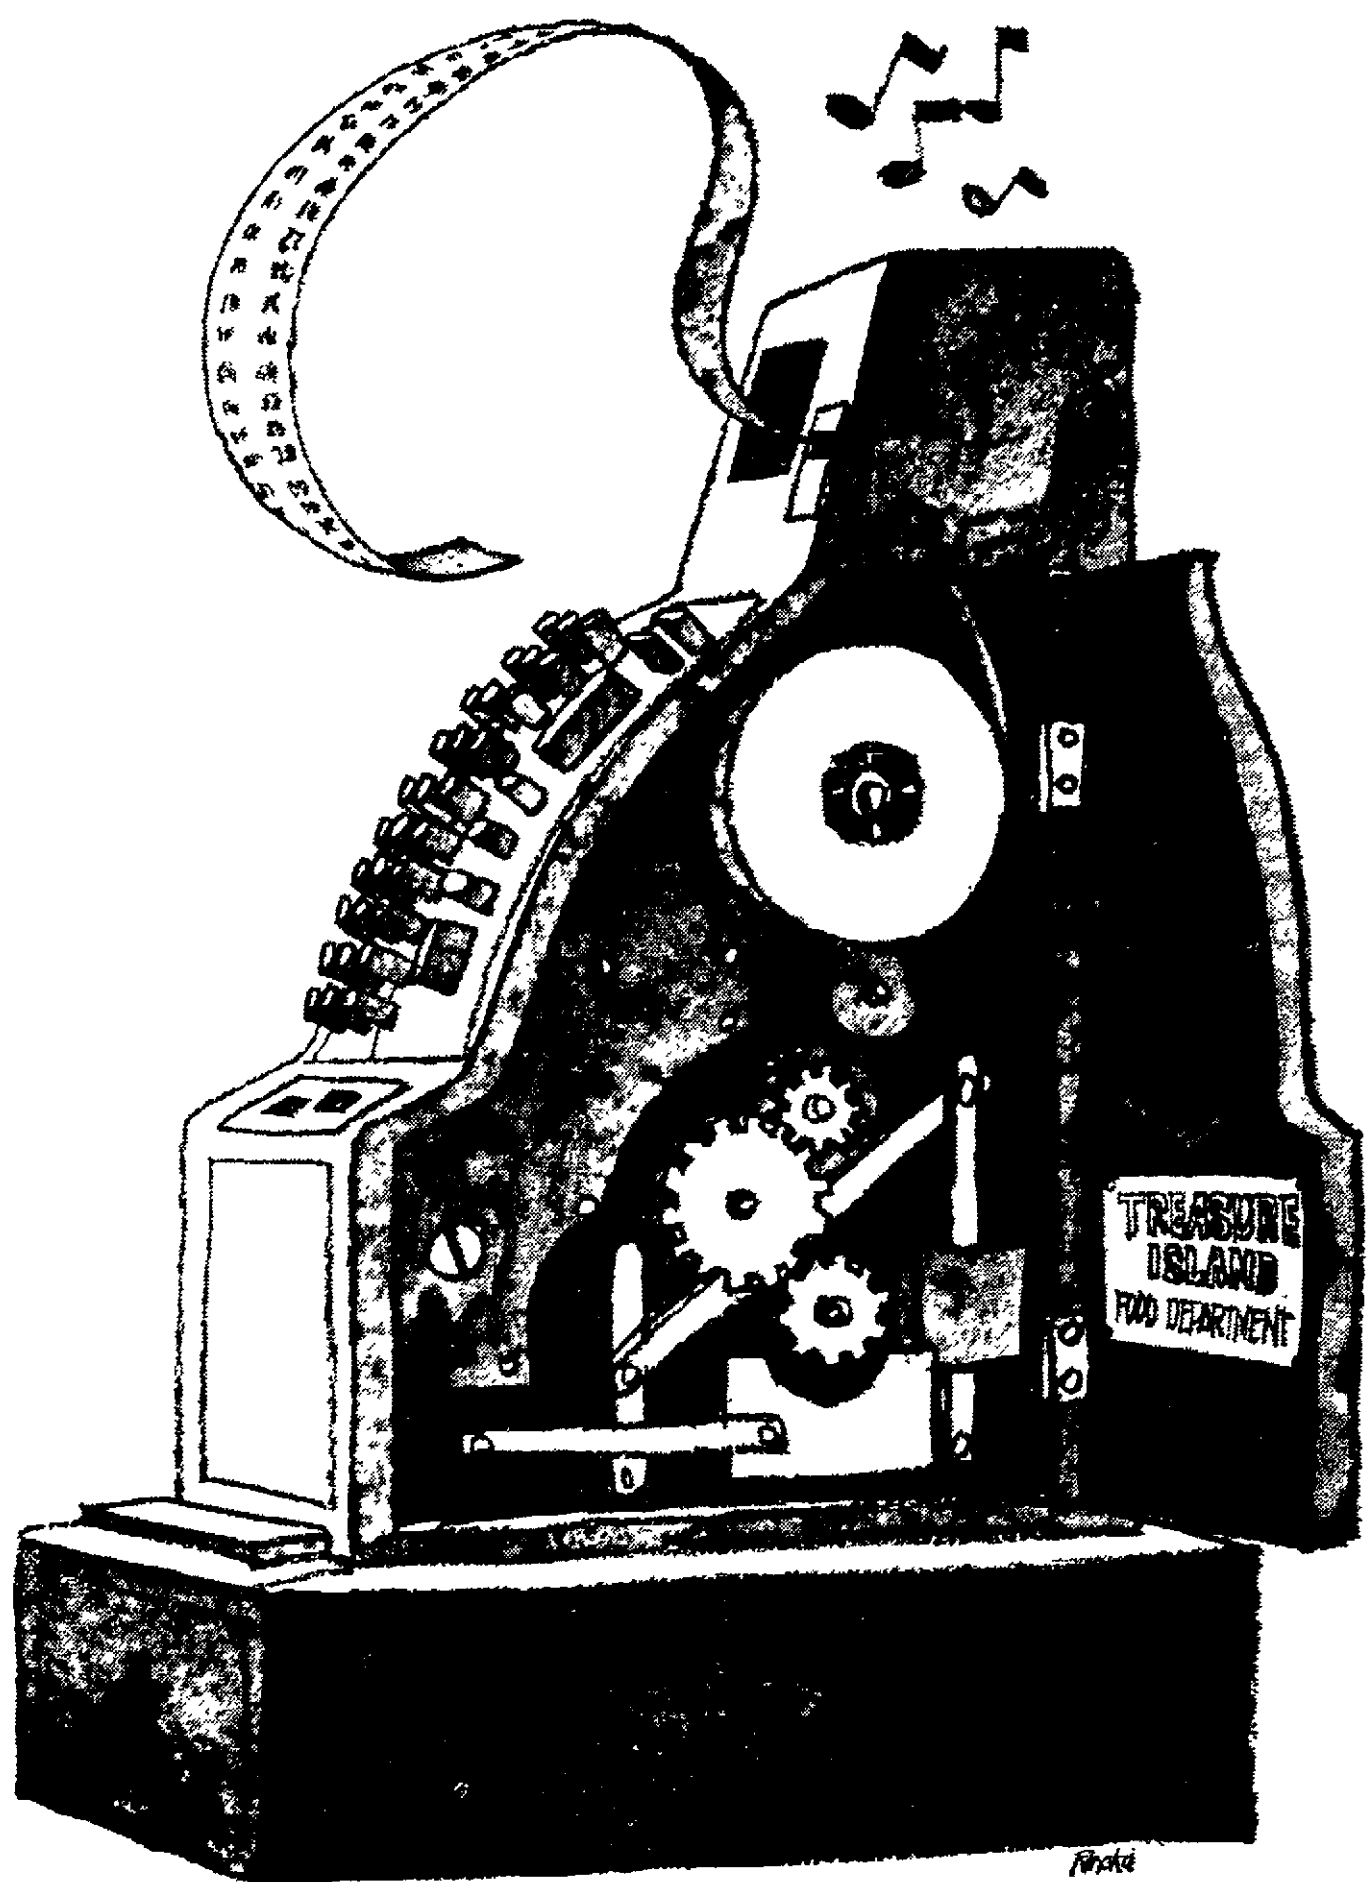

Professional Counselors

A panel of professional counselors working with youth will conduct a discussion session on developing good mental habits at the third meeting, entitled "Mental Health Aspects."

Rev. James Vahey, pastor of St. James Methodist Church, will speak on developing a religious and spiritual attitude toward sex at the final session.

Registration blanks or further information may be obtained at the YMCA Youth Office. The maximum enrollment for these sessions is 20 fathers and their sons. A total fee of .33 for both father and son will cover all materials, text booklets and films used in the program.

Mourners Begin Tribute to Churchill

Line Led Past Coffin By Wilson

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson today led a line of mourners past the flag-draped coffin of Sir Winston Churchill, lying in state amid the hushed grandeur of ancient Westminster Hall.

Wilson, his wife and members of his Labor government were the first of many thousands who during the next three days will pass in tribute to one of England's greatest sons.

Outside the hall a steadily growing throng waited for the doors to open to the public.

Churchill, who died Sunday at the age of 90, lay in a closed coffin on a high black-draped catafalque, a few steps from the House of Commons which was his historic stage.

Beneath the silent hall's massive oak roof, officers of crack Guards regiments kept vigil throughout the night, one at each corner of the catafalque and one at the foot. Four candles flickered against the hall's gray walls.

The coffin will lie there under the Union Jack until the state funeral Saturday in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Sleep on Sidewalks
Despite the cold east wind off the Thames, some mourners bedded down all night in sleeping bags on the sidewalk outside the Houses of Parliament, of which Westminster Hall is part. Through the night Big Ben tolled the hours and the quarters. On Saturday, it will be silent from the moment the funeral starts.

William Turner, 50, a former regimental sergeant major in the Middlesex Regiment, stood through the night in the line.

"I came because I had to," he said. "If it hadn't been for Sir Winston during the war I am sure this country would never have pulled through."

Churchill's body was brought to the hall Tuesday night from his home at 28 Hyde Park Gate, where he died with his family around him 10 days after a stroke.

Lady Churchill, heavily veiled but calm in her grief, rode with her son, Randolph and other members of the family in eight limousines behind the hearse.

They stood by a canopy at the entrance of the hall as eight Guardsmen lifted the coffin to their shoulders and took it to the catafalque.

That Was No Minor, That Was His Wife

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A county judge dismissed a charge to which the defendant had pleaded guilty after he learned the charge involved the defendant's wife.

James A. Stringfellow, 23, of Citronelle had been charged with permitting a minor to operate a motor vehicle on a public highway.

Asked Tuesday by Judge William Bekurs how he pleaded, Stringfellow said guilty. "It was my wife and she's only 14," he said.

After U. S. Demand

Chance of Showdown In U. N. Dues Dispute Reported Increasing

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Prospects of a showdown over U.N. finances increased today following Adlai E. Stevenson's demand before the General Assembly that the Soviet Union and other debtors pay up or lose their assembly votes.

The U.S. chief delegate did not name the Soviet Union, France or other defaulting nations in his policy speech Tuesday. He did call for support of the American position that delinquents must be penalized under Article 19 of the U.N. Charter, which takes away the assembly vote of any nation two years in arrears.

Stevenson warned that the assembly is nearing a fork of the road and "may soon have to decide which branch of the road it will take."

Few Alternatives
Delegates said the U.S. stand appeared to make a confrontation with Moscow unavoidable unless the Soviets give ground or the assembly calls a recess.

The Soviet Union has said it will make a substantial contribution to the U.N. treasury, but only if the assembly sets aside the penalty clause. The United States insists on knowing in advance that the Russians will contribute enough to take them off the delinquent list.

Western diplomats question that another assembly recess will help break the deadlock that has defied the negotiating talents of Secretary-General U Thant, Assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey and the 59-nation Asian-African bloc.

Unfamiliar Path

Stevenson told the assembly that Article 19 must be observed. To ignore the charter, he said, would be "a step in the dark down an unfamiliar path."

He declared that if members were allowed to decide individually what U.N. activities they considered legal and worthy of financial support, the United Nations would become an organization beset with uncertainties, delays, frustrations and failure.

The Soviet Union and France claim assessments they have refused to pay for peacekeeping operations are illegal because they were voted by the assembly instead of the Security Council.

A showdown is expected to come next Monday when Quaison-Sackey plans to call for election of committee chairmen and vice presidents so the assembly, which has been floundering aimlessly for more than eight weeks, can get down to business. A record vote would automatically bring up the question of applying Article 19.

Tuesday's Proposals

Two Bills Would Hike State School Aids by $18 Million in Biennium

MADISON (AP)—Sen. Holger Rasmussen, R-Spooner, introduced two bills Tuesday that would raise state school aids to a total of $18 million in the coming biennium.

The Senator's measures would increase the assessed valuation behind each student from $35,000 to $38,000 and would have the effect of forcing the state to pay more aid money to districts not having the property valuation to match the new figure.

The second proposal would force the state to pay aids on the basis of current enrollments. Aids now are computed on enrollments of the previous year.

Another Senate bill would put Wisconsin into an interstate compact on mental health and link it with 28 other states now in the program.

Transfer Patients

The compact provides for the transfer of mental patients to hospitals best suited to the individual's needs.

Similar legislation was defeated in the last session. Opponents said it would infringe on the individual liberties of Wisconsin's mentally ill. Sponsors of the new legislation say the objection has been remedied.

Assemblyman Nile Soik, R-Milwaukee, introduced a resolution urging Congress to call a convention that would draw up an amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Limit Powers

Soik's resolution recommended that the amendment limit presidential powers by forcing the Chief Executive to submit balanced federal budgets except during an emergency declared by Congress.

Under another Assembly bill, no boat owner would be allowed to anchor his craft within 200

Many Still Waiting

Voter Drive Ends in Selma

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — A special 12-day voter registration term ends today with many Negroes still waiting to take a literacy test and state troopers standing by to safeguard against violence.

Civil rights leaders planned to keep up the pressure on the Board of Registrars in an effort to get as many Negroes as possible added to the voter rolls in the final day.

The three-member board has been in session three days in each of the past four weeks. Next Monday it will return to the regular two days a month schedule.

Only a few Negroes tried to register in the first two weeks of the special term. Since the massive civil rights campaign led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. got under way nine days ago, prospective voters have marched to the courthouse by the hundreds. Only about 40 Negroes — some of them standing in line for hours — have managed to take the lengthy literacy test. The board has not said whether any of them had been registered.

State troopers brought in Tuesday remained in Selma overnight but only on a standby basis. City and county officers policed the area around the courthouse Tuesday without calling on the troopers although the city had asked them to come in in case they were needed.

Sheriff James G. Clark and his deputies arrested more than 200 Negroes last week when they refused to use the courthouse door designated by county authorities.

Block Interference
A federal court injunction issued last Saturday prohibited sheriff's officers from further interference. Since then the campaign has moved along with less difficulty.

However, U.S. marshals enforcing the court order have allowed no more than 100 applicants to wait in line at one time. The injunction by U.S. District Judge Daniel H. Thomas specified that the number of places in line must be assigned to the first 100 arriving each day.

Thirty-four Negroes who reached the courthouse Tuesday after the allotted number had taken their places in line were arrested when they refused to move on.

Will Return
King, the 1964 Nobel Peace prize winner, left Selma Tuesday to return to his home in Atlanta. An aide, the Rev. James Bevel, said he would be back, perhaps Thursday.

Bevel said civil rights leaders, while continuing the campaign

Army Says Soldier Defected To North Korea During Patrol

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The U.S. Army said today that Sgt. Charles R. Jenkins of Rich Square, N.C., left a note apologizing to his mother "for the walked off in the dark. When he failed to return, a search was ordered, but Jenkins could not be located.

The Army confirmed his disappearance and told of the note after North Korea's Pyongyang radio reported the defection. The broadcast Tuesday said Jenkins defected because he was disgusted with conditions in South Korea and believed conditions in the Communist North were better.

Jenkins, 24, is the fourth American soldier to go over to the North Korea Communists since May 1963. He joined the Army in 1958 and was stationed in Korea in 1960-61. He arrived last November for a second tour.

A U.S. Army spokesman said Jenkins was a good soldier and there was no known reason for him to defect. He did not have access to classified information. His mother is Pattie Casper of Rich Square.

The last defection occurred Dec. 6, 1963, when Jerry Parademilitarized zone dividing North and South Korea. He told walked away from a unit on his men to wait for him, then patrol.

Businessmen to Face Trial on Security Count

MADISON (AP) — Business executives Neil Woodington and Robert C. Kelly, both of Madison, have been ordered to trial March 15 on charges of filing false and misleading financial statement with the State Securities Department.

The trial date was set Tuesday by Circuit Court Judge Russell E. Hanson of Fond du Lac, who will hear the case without a jury. Hanson denied a motion for separate trials.

Conviction on the charge carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and $5,000 fines.

Woodington is president and Kelly vice president of Allied Development Corp., a general land development firm.

Girl, 7, Shot In Darlington

DARLINGTON (AP)—A seven-year-old girl was found shot to death in her rural home near Benton early today when her parents returned from a card party. Authorities arrested an 18-year-old youth, employed in the home as a babysitter, who they said admitted the shooting.

Lafayette County Sheriff Edward Thompson quoted the babysitter, Donald NeCollins of Elk Grove, as saying he shot the girl, Dianne Coulthard, in the chest with her father's .22 caliber revolver because she called him names.

NeCollins was held in jail on an open charge, the sheriff said, and was to be questioned later today by Dist. Atty. John Schleiter of Benton.

Workmen's Compensation Report Hit by Manufacturers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A University of Wisconsin report on federal-state cooperation in improvement of workmen's compensation legislation was criticized Tuesday by Robert A. Ewens, executive vice president of the Wisconsin Manufacturers Association.

The report was prepared by Prof. David B. Johnson of the Wisconsin economics department under a contract with the federal Department of Labor. It was discussed at a two-day conference on workmen's compensation and radiation injury.

Grants to States
Johnson recommended federal legislation providing grants to aid the states in increasing permanent disability benefits, for vocational rehabilitation and medical benefits.

Ewens, a member of the Wisconsin Advisory Committee on workmen's compensation and chairman of its management group for 19 years, said he opposed any federal grants.

Wisconsin, Ewens said, can continue to handle its own workmen's compensation problem. He said Johnson was proposing a "foot in the door" toward federalization of the program.

Ewens also said he and six other industry and insurance company members of the Wisconsin advisory committee were not contacted by Johnson in the preparation of his report.

U. S.-Russian Missile Race Started During World War

Both Countries Acquired as Much German Data as Possible

EDITOR'S NOTE — At the moment the United States is believed ahead — or at the least, even — with the Soviet Union in the missile race. But only a few years ago there was the widespread fear of a missile gap — in favor of the Kremlin. In the following second of three articles Everett S. Allen, staff writer of the New Bedford Standard-Times, shows how this concern developed and what Washington officials did to undo it. The Standard-Times made the series available to The Associated Press.

BY EVERETT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the moment, the United States has more than 800 fully armed ICBMs deployed on launchers, 600 of them Minutemen, almost all in "hardened" — underground, concrete — silos dispersed over a total area of more than 100,000 square miles, from New York State to California.

An accounting of how and why this technological miracle came about is the story of the nonexistent "missile gap."

As World War II neared an end, the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States acquired all of the German technical data and military devices they could. The Russians did particularly well, their army overrunning most of Germany's rocket production and assembly facilities.

Surrender to U. S.
The director of Germany's Pennemunde rocket center, Maj. Gen. Walter Dornberger, and Dr. Wernher von Braun, who worked on Germany's V2 missile program, surrendered to U.S. forces rather than be taken

John von Neumann of the Princeton University Institute for Advanced Studies and Trevor Gardner, who early in 1953 was appointed special assistant secretary for research and development for the Air Force. Gardner immediately addressed priority efforts to the missile.

It was Gardner who established the Strategic Missiles Evaluation Committee which came to be known as the "Teapot Committee." Von Neumann was chairman, and Dr. Wiesner, one of its 11 members. This group spent a year in studies, listening to military leaders, scientists, and intelligence information, and by the winter of 1953, emerged fully convinced that we could build an ICBM in four to six years, and that the Russians had a several-year lead on us, as well as a program exclusive of that assisted by German workers.

Teapot Committee
With the Rand Corp. — a non-profit research and development group established by Gen. John F. Kennedy, was "first" of the missile in the Air Force in 1946 — the Teapot Committee believed the nation was in grave danger and called for an aggressive missile effort. That President Dwight D. Eisenhower "backed to the hilt," in and estimated it would take the Soviets until 1965 to develop it. Laboratory experiments had so that we need not be convinced the Von Neumann committee that the next U.S. nuclear test series, in the summer of 1953 would produce, and it did, a lot lighter bomb; if so, the nuclear weapon, instead of being 10,000 to 12,000 pounds, need be only 3,000 to 4,000. This would negate the Air Force argument that a missile would be hard to build because it would have to contain a huge nuclear-fission bomb.

Among the latter were Dr.

Russian Missile, Top, on display during Moscow parade, bears a striking resemblance to Nike, U.S. Army's guided missile. bottom, designed for anti-aircraft use. Whether the missile capabilities of the two countries were as uneven as stated in the 1960 presidential campaign is a matter of difference. (AP Wire-photo)

The manned bomber, in the lose it — and its 147,000 casualties of Hiroshima and before, ties. U2 Flights — because we thought they had the Nike-Ajax missile system was beginning to appear: in my opinion, it neutralized the bomber's effective striking power. At this point, in July 1956, the U2, an American aircraft that can take 4,000 pictures of a strip

125 miles wide and 2,174 miles long from a height of 80,000 to 70,000 feet, began to overfly the Soviet Union. The Air Force had developed something better than radar screens in Turkey. From these flights in the words of Dulles, "We gained, rather quickly, extraordinary results from photographing their major base and the complex around it. After that, we were able to watch its development with reasonable accuracy. Other Air Force detection methods were also developed permitting more accurate monitoring of test firings. "However, when they were shooting only 3,000 miles, we felt they probably could shoot a greater distance, but that they were running out of land in the Kamchatka, and Siberian areas, and probably could not monitor efficiently a longer shot." Operational Force — The Gaiter committee, established by Eisenhower, was trying to decide when the Russians might be likely to have a large number of missiles. One former member commented to me, "The consensus was 1960, for an operational missile force. We thought it would take us two years longer, so we were at a serious disadvantage." In the summer of 1957, a high-ranking Air Force general commented to Wiesner in the presence of a large group. "You're exaggerating this missile business. There will be no operational missile in my lifetime." On Aug. 26, 1957, a few days after the general — who is still on active duty — made his pre-diction, the Soviet news agency Tass announced launching of a long-range ballistic missile. U.S. intelligence replied, in the words of Dulles, by "sound-ing the alarm." The Russians fired three more satellites between Oct. 4, 1957, and May 11, 1958, the last being Sputnik III, weighing 2,926 pounds, contrasted with three of our shots that had payloads of only 31, 28 and 3.25 pounds. A rocket vehicle capable of launching a heavy satellite is not precisely the same thing as having an ICBM, but military authorities conceded that when the Russians had solved problems of guidance, re-entry and production, they could reach anywhere in the United States with an ICBM launched from the Soviet Union. "At this time," related Dulles, "we faced a problem one often has in intelligence. They had produced and tested a long-range missile. Were they going to give it major emphasis? It was pretty large, awkward to handle. Would the Russians spend money to put it into production, or first try to produce a smaller, more efficient type with which they could create a more orderly missile program?"

ICBM Deployment
Finding the Russian missile center was one thing: We could not locate evidence of ICBM years longer, so we were at a disadvantage even though we searched over most of the U.S.S.R. The frustrating factor was that it should have been easy to spot: A missile bigger than our Atlas, on a launching pad near the railroad that served it. There were those who argued that perhaps the Reds were not deploying the weapon, but the Air Force was inclined to believe we weren't looking in the right places for the right things. It was accepted in the United States that nothing could stop the Russians from achieving an intercontinental missile with a 5,000-mile range.

Below is a Chinese-type soup that offers much enjoyment. Crisp vegetables . . . cabbage, celery, water chestnuts and mushrooms . . . combine with strips of cooked chicken in a seasoned broth to make a filling soup. The broth is made from a mix instantly dissolved in water.

Two modern favorites, pizza and hamburgers, take to Oriental treatment for a gay Far East party by the addition of popular Chinese foods. Bean sprouts are added to Chow Mein burgers, shown upper right. Biscuits, canned chicken or beef chop suey make up the Chinese Pizzas, above left.

'The Joy of Eating Is in the Tasting'

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

So goes an old Chinese saying that soon will be put to the test. For Americans of Chinese descent . . . for Chinese everywhere . . . next Tuesday is the greatest holiday of the year with 15 days of feasting. By ancient tradition it is not only New Year's Day (the year 4663 to be exact, the Year of the Serpent) but it's everybody's birthday too.

The year of the Dragon 4662 will fade into the past as the 15-day celebration gets underway early Tuesday morning. The joyous words, "Gung Hoi Fet Toy," (Happy New Year!) will resound in all Chinese-American neighborhoods and the gay days of fun and pageantry will begin after weeks of preparation in every household.

Chinese custom is steeped in tradition that centers around the family and its good life. All debts are supposed to be paid before the old year wanes. When the new year dawns all business is suspended. A thoroughly scrubbed house is bedecked with fruits and flowers and festooned with bright red streamers.

Red is the color of happiness and good luck to the Chinese, so it is seen everywhere. Many families carry red cards when they go calling. On New Year's Day itself . . . a family celebration at home . . . gifts are presented to the children. These usually are presents of money, wrapped in red paper.

The five household gods have a role in the ceremonies . . . and particularly important is Tsao, God of the True Chinese dishes have realistic names which describe the dish quite accurately. The recipe means what it says and, thus, Fried Rice with Beef and Peppers is exactly that. Chunks of beef are marinated in a tangy sauce that gives a savory flavor to the entire dish. The fried rice is simple when one of the package mixes on the market is used. Just follow the directions.

Many gourmets hail Cantonese food as the world's best cuisine and these Lemon-Canton Ribs certainly won't disprove the belief. The spareribs are baked first, then cooked in a superb sauce. Chunks of pineapple, onion and green pepper are added during the last 15 minutes. But, beware, do not overcook if you want the Cantonese touch with its hallmark of tender, crisp vegetables.

Double Ring Ceremony Performed

Nuptial vows were exchanged at 11 a.m. today by Miss Susan Anita Washechek and Thomas Robert Van Wyk. The Rev. Willard C. McKinnon officiated at the double ring ceremony at St. Bernadette Catholic Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Washechek, 606 S. Telulah Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Wyk, 1807 N. Bennett St.

Honor attendants for the couple were Miss Eileen Washechek and Michael Washechek, sister and brother of the bride. Usher duties were fulfilled by Peter B. Miles.

A wedding dinner was served at Reetz Supper Club.

Mrs. Van Wyk was graduated from Marquette University College of Nursing, Milwaukee, where she affiliated with Alpha Tau Delta and Gamma Pi Epsilon, national Jesuit honor society for women. She is a registered nurse at Appleton Memorial Hospital. Mr. Van Wyk attended the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center. He is employed at the Outagamie County Bank.

Why Freshener?

Ever wonder why cosmeticians and beauty consultants place so much stress on skin fresheners? It is because this is the best way to encourage tone to tissue and muscle that gets very little exercise and which is covered by makeup most of the time. Before applying makeup and before retiring make it a habit to invigorate the face with freshener. One of the simplest and most effective methods is to spank the face lightly with the fingers, using good quality witch hazel. Witch hazel is a pure herb extract having no foreign ingredients.

Ivy League styles, long perched atop the fashion ladder are trend setters too, as winter house plants.

New professionally grown varieties can give your interiors a surprising variety of colors, ranging from gold, silver, purple and red to delicate shades of white and gray.

Price Tag Only Sour Note For Male Style Watcher

PARIS (AP)—As long as a man has money to spend, he will have no complaints about the spring collection Pierre Balmain introduced here today.

Pretty mannequins who smile, waistslines at waists, and hemlines at knees, youthfulness without silliness, softness without being languorous and wilted, chic, elegance, both vivid and delicate hues and opulence in tasteful doses — all the things men generally approve in fashion but the price tags — appeared in due course on the platform of the Balmain showroom.

The jewelry industry might have complaints. Daytime suits and dresses were so finely detailed with collars and bands of honeycomb and hemstitching that even a string of pearls would have detracted.

Built-In Glitter As for the party fare, Balmain added his own sparklers as jewel encrusted cuff bands and belts on sleek silk suits. Jewel embroidered overblouses with plenty of gold thread thrown in and some twinklers on the formal wear preclude getting the diamonds out of the safe.

But what husbands won't spend on jewelry, they'll put in furs, if Balmain has his way — even if this is a spring collection. The couturier's mannequins nuzzled in skinny white minks made of alternate bands of hairy and sheared pelts.

Sealskins given a haircut, dyed navy blue and hemstitched over lightweight coats dropped over the shoulders of a mannequin in a stark white wool sheath. Anbaskets, as crawlers to cover open stretches of interior space, in or dish gardens, you'll find the Ivy League well worth adding to your home fashions in living plants.

Develop Security In Child

If you wonder how the personal security of a child is developed remember that it starts even before he's born. The serenity of the mother-to-be had great influence on the child, according to Regenia Chadwick, family life specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

When an expectant mother suffers emotional stress her child can be born neurotic. If she and her husband look forward to having a child the feeling of security is well begun. As parents handle a child, they should talk to him and respond to his needs so he develops feelings of security and trust. Any care that father and mother give lets a child know that the world is a pleasant, safe place in which to live.

Encourage Child As a child grows older he discovers that he can do some things for himself and he'll take great delight in doing so. As leaves and stems. The roses themselves were perfectly created imitations tacked to the stems, definitely in the way for a pressing iron.

Less of a challenge but interesting was the rosy rope one miss wore with her snowy white organza debutante gown. The long stem of leaves and roses third dimensional flower theme, snaked around the curly blonde hair, around her neck and down example was a white organza her back, with a last rose trail-number imprinted with green ing many feet behind her.

Penny-Wise Main Dish

Here's a delicious combination of wieners and scrambled eggs to help keep a close watch on both budget and waistlines. Chockful of protein and minerals but low in calories, this dish also is an easy one to prepare. It makes an excellent choice for a hearty breakfast, a tempting lunch or supper with the addition of a salad plus dessert.

The frankfurters are sliced and browned in a large skillet. While the wieners simmer to a golden brown, break the half-dozen, flavorful, fresh eggs into a bowl. Then add the remaining ingredients. Beat slightly with a fork to give a uniform golden color to the finished dish.

Touch of Color

That's all there is to the work part. For an added flavor treat and extra touch of color, add chopped chives (fresh, frozen or freeze-dried) or chopped parsley if this flavor is preferred.

This dish will be a hit with every member of the family. Youngsters may be more impressed if hot eggs and meat are spooned onto a toasted bun.

The cost is minimal, especially now with the current low egg prices. This is a high protein meal for only pennies.

PENNY SCRAMBLE

1/2 pound wieners, sliced crosswise
about 1/4 inch thick
2 tablespoons shortening
3 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
2 tablespoons chopped chives

Cook wieners in shortening until lightly browned, stirring occasionally. While franks are cooking, mix eggs with milk, salt, pepper and chives. Pour off excess fat. Return skillet with wieners to the heat and pour in egg mixture. Cook eggs quickly over medium heat. Lift from the bottom and sides as the mixture thickens. As the cooked mixture is lifted, the thin, uncooked part should flow to the bottom. Avoid constant stirring.

Cook until eggs are thickened throughout but still moist, about five to eight minutes. Recipe makes four to six servings.

So Little Time Is Required from a busy schedule to prepare this variation of scrambled eggs, yet it's a delicious dish that may be served any time of day from breakfast to midnight snack. With the current low egg prices and the addition of economical wiener slices, this is a dish that's great for the budget.

A 'Stitch in Time' Will Help Life of Garment

Putting in a few stitches before a seam splits, tears or ravel can prevent lengthy and difficult mending jobs. Sometimes reinforcing weak spots before they break can add considerable wearing time to a garment, according to Lenore Landry, clothing specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

Most mending or repair work on clothing is either patching or darning. Whether you use some of the modern time-saving mending kits available at notion counters or put a patch on a hole you need to consider the size and kind of damage.

Popular mending aids are press-on patches, and replacement pockets, edgings, collars and cuffs. If you use these, be sure to follow instructions carefully.

You can repair holes, three-corner tears by darning, weaving or setting in patches. For machine washable garments you can use either a hand-hemmed patch or one that is machine stitched. The latter is called a minute-and-a-half patch and is especially good for jeans, coveralls and short sleeves.

For wool fabrics it's best to darn a patch in or use a woven-in patch. The darned in patch takes a piece of fabric to exactly fit the squared off hole and all four sides are darned to the garment over a piece of reinforcement.

To weave in a patch a piece of the fabric is used which has been raveled on all four sides. It's put in place over the hole

The Former State president of Lawyers' Wives of Wisconsin and the founder of the Outagamie County group five years ago, Mrs. John A. Kluwin, Milwaukee, a former Appleton resident, was on hand for the testimonial luncheon for Mrs. Walter Brummund, current state head of Lawyers' Wives. The two visit at right with Judge Andrew Parnell, center, who stepped into the speaker's chair with only a few moments notice Tuesday. Below at one of the displays showing the organization's work, are Mrs. Raymond Dohr, outgoing president, Mrs. J. P. Frank, Mrs. Stanley Staidl, new president, and Mrs. Gary Seymour, a new member.

Lawyers' Wives Pay Tribute to State President, Mrs. Brummund

It was her day. Mrs. Walter Brummund was honored by the Lawyers Wives of Outagamie County Tuesday at the group's annual luncheon at Butte des Morts Golf Club.

The testimonial dinner and tribute were the Lawyers' Wives way of expressing pride in their charter president, who is now president of the Lawyers' Wives of Wisconsin for 1964-65, and of telling their appreciation for efforts she has made for the entire community.

The honoree was meant to be surprised about the testimonial. Her invitation was to have been a simple announcement of the meeting, with everyone else receiving a note telling of the special occasion. By mistake, Mrs. Brummund's invitation read like all the others. Her request for an explanation was met with blank stares, and she waited, not without impatience, for the time when someone would tell her what was afoot.

Last Minute Task Judge Andrew W. Parnell graciously stepped forth at 11 a.m. to fill the speaker's shoes vacated when the president of the Wisconsin State Bar Association, Lyle Beggs, Madison, found the roads impassable and called from Columbus to say he couldn't keep his schedule.

Also on hand for the event were members of the Outagamie County Bar Association; Nell McCarty, Kaukauna, president; Gordon Bubolz, president-elect and brother of Mrs. Brummund; Judge Raymond P. Dohr; Judge Stanley Staidl, about to be honored himself at his retirement from the bench, and Walter Brummund.

Judge Staidl complimented Mrs. Brummund for her contributions and recognized her as one of the leading women in both the community and state. It is women such as she, he said, who work unselfishly for others, who will make the world what we want it to be for our children. He also made the prediction that the day is coming when women will 'take over', and that we will not have world peace until they do.

Noted Accomplishment Mr. McCarty referred to Mrs. Brummund as warm, charming and capable, and cited her accomplishments as former AAUW president, her work for better radio and television programs, her Altrusa 'Woman of the Year' award and life membership, her interest in the conferences on World Law which she has attended with her husband and from which she has brought back information to local groups, and of her interest in youth.

Judge Parnell gave a brief biography of Mrs. Brummund, saying he could not think of another woman who had made a greater contribution than she.

The speaker also told the women and guests something of the activities of judges, referring to the two state organizations which have now organized to meet in a single Judicial Conference, which held its first session last fall. He also told of the national group of trial judges, promotion seminars throughout the country where they could discuss subjects of mutual interest and share ideas and problems. There is room for improvement, Judge Parnell said, in trial work, from county judgeships to the Supreme Court. He noted that a college session for judges was held for the first time last summer at Boulder, Colo., and that plans are being made to have three such sessions a year.

Presented Gift

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Brummund was presented a silver punch bowl from the Lawyer's Wives of the county.

At the business session, Mrs. Stanley Staidl was named to succeed Mrs. Raymond P. Dohr as president; Mrs. Hugh Nelson to take over as president-elect, Mrs. James Bayorgeon, secretary, and Mrs. Stanley Chmiel, treasurer.

Midwinter Conference Dates were announced as Feb. 18 and 19 in Milwaukee.

Your Problems Slow to Start Talking, Boy Now Worried About Gabbiness

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: My parents tell me that when I was a little boy they were worried about me because I didn't say a word until I was almost four years old. They even took me to doctors. The doctors said I would talk when I was ready.

Well, now I am 13 years old and I can't shut up. I talk mostly foolishness which makes me ashamed of myself. Sometimes I don't know what I am

They fear if they don't speak people will think they are stupid or dull. Nothing could be further from the truth. Silence is a better clue to intelligence than senseless chatter.

Train yourself to listen. You'll be amazed at what you can learn when your mouth is shut.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I heard you lecture recently and you said almost half of your readers are men. I was not surprised because my husband says all the men in his office discuss your column every day. Since a great many men read you, Ann, will you print something about American men who are killing themselves trying to corner all the money in the world?

Every time I pick up a newspaper I see where some young executive had dropped dead of a coronary. I worry myself sick that my husband will be next.

What can be done about a man who is so obsessed to succeed that he is driving himself to an early grave? Yes, I like the advantages that come with money, but I'd rather have my husband shut up and enjoy fewer of these advantages.

Dear Machine: Most people who talk talk are victims of a nervous habit. Silence makes them uncomfortable.

answer. — Too Young for Widowhood

Dear Too Young: Hard work never killed anybody. Worry and tension are the twin demons that can put people six feet under before their time. Of course, unsuccessful people can worry themselves into early graves, too, but you don't hear much about them.

Eighty years ago the life expectancy of the average American male was 34. Today it is 69. People are living longer, but they must die of something — sometime. The old killers, TB and typhoid are well under control. Diagnosis today is more accurate, too. Fifty years ago men died from heart disease but often the doctors called it something else because they didn't know what else to call it.

The best way to avoid a heart attack, according to the experts, is to keep your weight under control, exercise moderately — and regularly — and pick ancestors with good blood vessels and a history of long life.

Gala Foods With A Chinese Flavor

Hearth or, as he also is known, Prince of the Oven and God of the Kitchen. Chinese custom has it that this god leaves for Heaven at year's end to report on the family's behavior during the past year. Thus, each family prepares a bountiful farewell feast for him while the youngsters make beautifully decorated paper chariots for Tsao to use on his heavenly journey.

When the house is ready . . . the tables spread with rice, vegetables, tea, wine, incense, candles and floral offerings . . . firecrackers are set off in front of the house.

Families gather together at midnight on New Year's Eve when generally prayers are said, food offerings are made and the flowers, fruits and sweets for the holiday are blessed before the portraits of ancestors. When the ceremonial hour arrives, the head of the household lights red candles and burns incense.

The first seven days usually mark exchange visits with relatives, while the rest of the holiday is spent with friends.

The festival begins and ends with a community observance. To start it off, the Procession of the Cow heads for the fields with the God of Agriculture in the lead. The cow is constructed from a bamboo frame covered with five different colored papers. Inside the frame is a small calf representing New Year. When the procession returns from the fields the cow is destroyed, leaving only the infant year as a symbol of the future.

The colorful Parade of the Dragon closes festivities. The Dragon closes festivities. The huge mythical beast is fashioned of bamboo and covered with silk or paper. Often more than 100 feet long, the dragon sometimes requires as many as 120 men to carry it over their heads.

In between these two parades is the six-day feast of the lanterns. Beginning on the 10th day of the New Year festival, the people display paper lanterns.

Certainly all these colorful customs suggest decorative ideas for the party minded and during the season. To go with the theme of the Chinese New Year are the following recipes some frankly adapted to the idea of a party and others really Chinese in origin or treatment.

CHINESE WINTER SOUP

FRIED RICE WITH BEEF AND PEPPERS

4 cups water
1 pkg. Fried Rice Mix
1 pound filet steak
1 tablespoon soy sauce

1/2 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water
2 tablespoons oil
2 onions, sliced
1 green pepper, cut in strips
1 tablespoon oil
Seasoning, Sauce

Bring water to a boil; add rice and simmer 15 minutes. Drain and rinse with cold water. Set sauce and seasoning packets aside.

While rice is cooking, cut meat into small chunks. Mix together soy sauce, half-teaspoon sugar, cornstarch and two strips and sharp cheese. Broil until cheese melts. Recipe makes 24 pizzas.

Heat two tablespoons oil; add meat chunks when oil is very hot. Saute beef for two minutes; remove and set aside. Saute onions until brown, then add green pepper and stir one minute until pepper strips turn bright green. Remove vegetables and set aside.

In same pan, add tablespoon oil and cooked rice. Add seasoning from Packet B in rice mix package, then blend in brown sauce (Packet A in rice mix) until rice is uniform in color.

Add sauteed onion, pepper and beef; mix well, heating gently. Turn off heat, stir again and serve immediately in shallow bowls.

GRILLED HALIBUT CHINOISE

1 1/2 pounds halibut steaks, fresh or frozen
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Dash garlic powder
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
6 tablespoons peanut or other oil
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon soy sauce

If halibut is frozen, thaw in refrigerator or at room temperature until no longer icy. Prepare basting sauce by measuring salt, pepper, garlic powder and ginger into bowl. Add one tablespoon oil and one tablespoon vinegar. Beat with wire whisk. Add two tablespoons oil and one tablespoon vinegar. Beat again until well blended. Add remaining oil and vinegar with teaspoonful of soy sauce; beat until well mixed.

Arrange halibut steaks on greased grill. Brush liberally with sauce. Grill about five minutes on each side, brushing frequently with basting sauce. Recipe make six servings.

Be Safe By Testing Long Suit

A 7-point hand is so weak that you are almost tempted to drop partner at his first bid. If he makes the right kind of rebid, however, you are glad to accept his invitation to game.

South's jump to two notrump is merely invitational, but North should accept the invitation. South shows 19 or 20 points by opening with one of a suit and then jumping to two notrump.

North adds his own 7 points, and sees that the partnership total is 26 or 27 points. Since 26 points is usually enough for game, North goes to three notrump.

When this hand was played in the 1964 team trials, all declarers reached game but three of the nine players went sour in the play of the cards. These

Square Dance Instruction Classes Begin

A new beginners square dance instruction class, with graduation planned in time for dancers to participate in the Wisconsin State Square Dance Convention in Green Bay in August, will begin at 8 p.m. today. The new class, to be held at the Darboy Club, is open to all Fox Cities couples interested in learning to square dance.

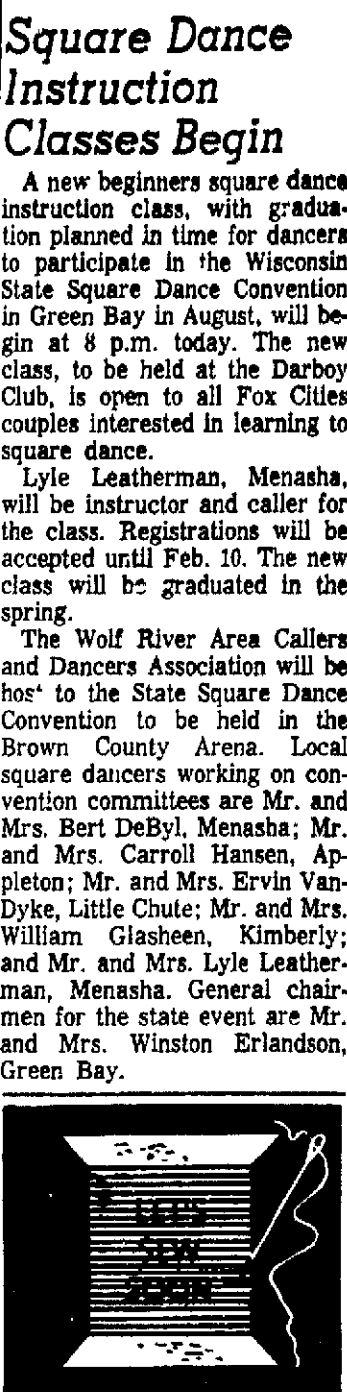

Lyle Leatherman, Menasha, will be instructor and caller for the class. Registrations will be accepted until Feb. 10. The new class will be graduated in the spring.

The Wolf River Area Callers and Dancers Association will be host to the State Square Dance Convention to be held in the Brown County Arena. Local square dancers working on convention committees are Mr. and Mrs. Bert DeByl, Menasha; Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hansen, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. Ervin VanDyke, Little Chute; Mr. and Mrs. William Glasheen, Kimberly; and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Leatherman, Menasha. General chairman for the state event are Mr. and Mrs. Winston Erlandson, Green Bay.

West can take the king of diamonds or refuse the trick as he pleases. South can surely get a dummy with the ace of hearts to lead a club through East for a finesse. Declarer thus makes sure of five clubs, two diamonds and two hearts.

You have opened the bidding with one club, and partner raises to two clubs. It is up to you again (the opponents are silent), holding: S K 6, H K 9 8, D A 10 6, C A K Q 9 5. What do you say?

Answer: Bid three notrump. You should have a reasonable play for game no matter what partner has for his raise. Don't be satisfied with an invitation when you can afford to bid game all by yourself.

Pool, Billiards Boom In Recreation Rooms

BY SYLVIA PORTER

After dinner in a lovely suburban home recently, our hostess invited us to join her for coffee, brandy, etc., in their handsomely paneled "play-room." We filed down the stairs. The ladies went to the coffee table. The gentlemen went to the pool table — and, for the first time in 21 years of cigar and cigarette smoke and surrounded by adult and juvenile delinquents. But as I have found out first hand, the pool table is becoming a standard piece of equipment in the family recreation room. In fact, says the Billiard Congress of America in Chicago, home pool now ranks behind card-playing and ping-pong as the most popular "family" game.

In 1964 an estimated $20 million of pool tables were sold, up nearly 30 per cent over 1963's sales and double the total as recently as 1959. Christmas sales broke all records.

25 Per Cent Increase

Last year about 625,000 home pool tables were sold, up 25 per cent over 1963, and the 1965 figure is projected at 700,000 tables. These figures compare with a rise of 4 per cent in sales of all sporting goods in 1964.

As in other booms in leisure-time activities, services and goods, key forces are the upsurge in our personal incomes and the steady expansion in our time off. Pool is an expensive home sport: tables cost from $70 to $1,000, a set of cues comes to about $200 and there are additional costs of maintenance.

Game Respectable

But the biggest single force behind the climb in pool playing is the industry's own all-out -In the Charm of This Country-Like room, interior designer Harold Illig uses the clean, strong look of black and white accented with single touches of dulled and antique red. Mr. Illig combined the melow fruitwood octagonal cocktail table with refreshingly checked fabrics of the love seat and chair.

The old world red is picked up again in the tweed covering for the desk chair and stool and in the old stone floor, actually a masterful reproduction in vinyl tile. Antiques and fine accessories make this a personable room.

effort to make the game great sport stores recently held a "Tea and Billiards" party in Chicago and outfitted famous players in striped pants and morning coats. Traditional pool parlors also have switched from the drab, green look and are advertising themselves as "family billiard centers" catering to women and children as well as to men. 500 colleges and universities

Commercial pool establishments have pool tables for students today and many include the game in their physical education courses. Incidentally, I'm still behind the times, for I shouldn't have used the word "pool" in this report at all. The name of the game today, Mothers and Dads of 1965's teen-agers, is "pocket billiards."

Council Policy Is Questioned

Resident Objects to Reporters Attending 'Closed' Meetings

A southside resident has objected to representatives of the press and other news-gathering media attending committee of the whole sessions of the Appleton Common Council when the public is excluded.

Jack L. Denison, 1928 S. Lawe St., registered his complaint in a letter to Mayor Clarence Mitchell as an aftermath of the council meetings the night of Jan. 20.

Denison, a salesman for Pennsalt Chemical Corp., Philadelphia, Pa., last week was awarded a contract by the city for supplying certain chemicals for the sewage treatment plant.

Denison questioned why news media representatives were permitted in "closed" meetings when citizens were not. He said he was disturbed when he saw reporters walking into the council conference room on Jan. 20. Aldermen met informally to discuss park land purchase, and plans for a new municipal garage.

"I am of an opinion that when a committee meeting is declared 'closed' to the public, this decree should apply to the press, radio and other news gathering agency as well as to individual citizens. After all, how much more public can you get than through the press and radio," he said.

Aldermen frequently hold committee of the whole sessions after their regular meeting. No official action is taken until they reconvene back in the council chambers.

When the council holds an executive session—a rarity here—the meeting is closed to everyone.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell said Tuesday he would invite Denison to the next council meeting to permit him to discuss his complaint with the council if he so desired.

Wolf River Guide Book Ready March 1

A comprehensive guide for both tourists and residents to the famed Wolf River Valley is expected to be ready for sale and distribution on March 1, according to Gordon A. Bubolz, chairman of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission.

Illustrated and carrying no advertising, the guide describes the historical, industrial, recreational and ethnic points of interest and nature of each of the eight counties in the region compiled and written by local writers familiar with the area. Counties represented are Winnebago, Outagamie, Waupaca, Shawano, Langlade, Forest, Menominee and Waushara.

Included in the book is a large map of the region with all points of interest and highway routes clearly designated so any visitor to the area will have no difficulty locating them.

Bubolz commented, "In fact, many residents of the area may be unaware of some of our scenic and recreational facilities which will provide considerable interest and enjoyment without the necessity of long highway trips on crowded roads."

PSC Says Bay City Cab Needs Carrier License For Airport Service

MADISON — The Bay City Cab Co., Green Bay, operated by Lucille Pansch, is operating unlawfully in competition with Conrad's Airport Limousine Service in providing public transportation to Austin Straubel Airfield, the Wisconsin Public Service Commission ruled Tuesday.

The regulatory agency said the firm cannot continue operating without a license as a common carrier. The commission issues such licenses.

The commission ruled on a complaint brought by the Conrad Service, which now holds a certificate authorizing the common motor carriage of passengers, parcels, newspapers and cut flowers between the airport and points in the city of Green Bay.

Lebanon Congregation Elects Two Officers

LEBANON — James Loughrin was elected secretary of St. Patrick's Catholic congregation at its annual meeting Monday night after a potluck lunch. Loughrin had been appointed last May to fill a vacancy created when the previous secretary moved.

Postmaster Sends Letter

Ask Firms to Send Mail Via Outagamie Airport

Appleton Postmaster Francis H. Sumnicht in a letter sent today to 130 "heavy mailing" firms in Appleton, is encouraging stronger use of air mail service from the Outagamie County airport.

Sumnicht said that an estimated 80 per cent of the air mail volume being flown from the Winnebago County airport in Oshkosh originates in the Fox Cities and that "almost all of this mail could go out of our airport if mailers were interested."

Rule Hudson Oil Co. Was Innocent of Unfair Labor Practice

MILWAUKEE (AP)—George A. Downing, a National Labor Relations Board examiner, ruled Monday that Hudson Oil Co. of Missouri, Inc., which operates service stations in Kenosha, Appleton and Milwaukee, was innocent of unfair labor practices.

Downing held for the company in a complaint filed by Local 85 of the General Drivers and Helpers Union, an affiliate of the Teamsters Union, involving the firm's Kenosha station.

The union had charged that the company refused to bargain with it. Downing recommended that the complaint be dismissed.

DEAR CABINETTER:
A welter of Americans are seeking a small craft business which will carry them through their fifties and into the seventies. You should consider, however, that most commercial property and businesses are sold separately. Many wanting an enterprise don't wish to become property owners. In this case, the individual susceptible to buying income producing property may not be remotely enchanted with turning into a wood-crafter. Talk to a reliable real estate firm and find out what it can do to find a buyer for the building for you. Run want ads in your newspaper offering the business for sale. # How Long Can U. S. Spend Over Income

Budget Has Gone Above $100 Billion Last Four Years

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Perhaps in these days of the "great society" it is not inappropriate to propound the "great query." It is this: How long can the federal government continue each year to spend far more than it collects in taxes or other receipts from the citizens?

For six consecutive years, the amount of money spent by the federal government will have like for granted it will always remain so. Many a nation in world history has proceeded on the assumption that it can spend more than it takes in only to find sooner or later that public confidence breaks down and in inflationary period ensues.

The most perplexing aspect of the President's new budget for the fiscal year which begins July 1, 1965, is in the claim that the new budget is less than $100 billion. But is it? Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, chairman of the finance committee of the United States Senate, points out that approximately $100 billion authorized in previous years is available for spending outside the new budget and that the total amount of money which the government will be authorized to spend will be around $200 billion.

Figures of Past Years
Any President can come up with a budget of slightly less than $100 billion for each of the next several years and get headlines implying that the actual budget has been kept within the $100-billion figure. This is because the reservoir of authorizations from previous years can be used.

But here is how the actual cash has flowed in and out of the treasury in the last four fiscal years:

The spending amounted to $99.5 billion in 1961, which was $2.3 billion more than was received.

In 1962, $107.7 billion was spent and $101.9 billion collected in taxes and other receipts.

In 1963, $113.8 billion was spent and the receipts were $109.7 billion.

In 1964, spending totalled $120.3 billion, and $115.5 billion was collected.

For the fiscal year 1965, the outlook is that $121.4 billion will be spent and only $117.4 billion collected.

How About Solvency?

After describing the coming budget as a "plan of action," from July 1, 1965, to June 30, 1966, expenditures will be $127.4 billion and receipts will be $123.5 billion.

So the announced plan to keep the "budget" below $100 billion doesn't tell the whole story.

Watch 'Cash Flow'

People generally have faith in the solvency of their own government. They think that, in the long run, the economy somehow will be given a stimulus and that tax receipts will grow in such volume as to offset expenditures. But, unfortunately, the trend may go the other way. The spending, to be sure, is growing larger and larger each year, and money is being spent out of previous years' appropriations, along with current authorizations. So the only way to get a line on what's happening in government finances is to watch the so-called "cash flow" — the actual outflow of cash and the actual inflow of cash.

Two significant sentences came over the news tickers just a little while after the President submitted his budget message to Congress. They read as follows:

Interest Big Item
"President Johnson indicated that he will ask Congress to increase the current debt limit of $324 billion."

"Interest on the national debt

To Your Good Health

Weight Not Affected By Cigarette Smoking

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband quit smoking a year ago. He weighed 212-218 lbs., but has gained to 222. It's too much to diet and give up smoking at the same time.

He has a good appetite but don't. The gain is usually because the cigaret-giver-upper starts nibbling candy or other food instead of reaching for a smoke, or before quitting, he had developed a habit of smoking when he really should have been eating.

If, when one stops smoking, his eating habits remain unchanged, then so does his weight.

From your letter, your husband has gained either four pounds, or 10, or something in between in the last year I can't tell which. But in any event, it doesn't look to me as though he had done any reducing before he stopped smoking, and he hasn't accomplished anything since, either.

Fewer Rich Foods
I'd suggest that you do more than cut down on rich foods; cut them out entirely. Your husband can be well-fed and still reduce his weight, a few ounces a week, if he will stick to a diet that can include meat and potatoes, vegetables, fruit and some milk, if he avoids sweets, pastry, gravies, and most of the fats — which means fried foods of all kinds.

As to his not eating "as much," let's put it in only an average, anyway. Since he is gaining weight, he is eating more food than he is using up. Maybe his skinny friends get more exercise.

Or, more likely, they don't eat as much as you think they do. The Slim Jim often can stow away a big meal occasionally, but eat less the rest of the time, and they do little if any nibbling between meals.

Stout people, in general, are those who eat heartily at all meals, and are more inclined to have snacks in between.

Any physical craving for cigarettes is gone within a couple of weeks. After that it's a matter of the mind. Your husband really has done very well, staying off tobacco for a year. I think all he has to do now is just convince himself that he has the habit licked, too.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it normal for adults to take naps during the day? My mother is 44 and takes a nap every afternoon. She never has any trouble sleeping at night. — T. M.

Naps are relaxing and it would probably be a good thing if most adults got in the habit.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, just turned 17, gets her period every 20 or 21 days and has been this way for over a last. She refuses to go to a doctor. Is this serious? She seems to be in good health otherwise. — MRS. D. G.

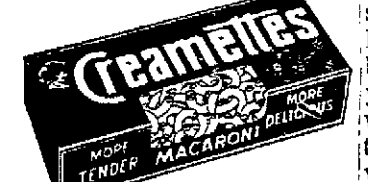

It's not unusual, and if this 21-day cycle has become established, it could continue for some time. The familiar 28-day cycle is only an average, anyway. Other cycles, longer or shorter, can be perfectly normal.

Koy Prefers NFL's Giants to Houston

Texas Star Signs With New York Despite Oiler Offers.

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas All-Pro tight end Koy Jr., star of the recent Orange Bowl game, has been signed by the New York Giants of the National Football League right under the noses of the rival American Football League Houston Oilers.

No one is more pleased about the transaction than Frank (Pop) Ivy, former Oiler head coach and now Southwest scout for the Giants.

"Pop handled it," said Wellington T. Mara, Giant vice president, Tuesday. "I came down to be blamed if we lost Koy."

Terms of the one-year contract were not announced, but Koy's salary was as high as $35,000. Koy said the terms of the offer by the two teams were similar.

"If he got a one-year contract from them, then I don't think the Oilers' offer was similar," said Ivy, Oiler spokesman, implying the Houston proposal was for several years.

New York completed the signing without losing a draft choice to the AFL.

Assigned Four — Koy was assigned four players to the Southwest and signed or received commitments from every one — Koy, North Texas State back Carl Lockhart, Oklahoma tackle Glen Condren and Texas linebacker Olen Underwood.

Koy was asked why he chose the club which drafted him 11th in the reference to one that took him the third round.

"I can answer that," interrupted Ivy.

"Nobody in the NFL drafted me high because of Houston's reputation for spending money on players. A lot of teams are reluctant to take on the chore of competing with the Oilers for a Texas boy."

"Maybe Houston's reputation is beginning to slip," he said.

"The NFL is established and the Giants have been playing a long time," said Koy, explaining his decision. "Dad played baseball in New York and I've always had an inkling to get back there."

Bragan Puts Mathews On Untradeable List

Braves' Field Boss Looks for Eddie to Stage Comeback

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A couple of months ago Milwaukee third baseman Eddie Mathews and many baseball observers felt he was on the trading block.

Now the Braves list him as one of their "untradeables."

"We have no intention of trading him," Manager Bobby Bragan said Tuesday. "He's far too valuable."

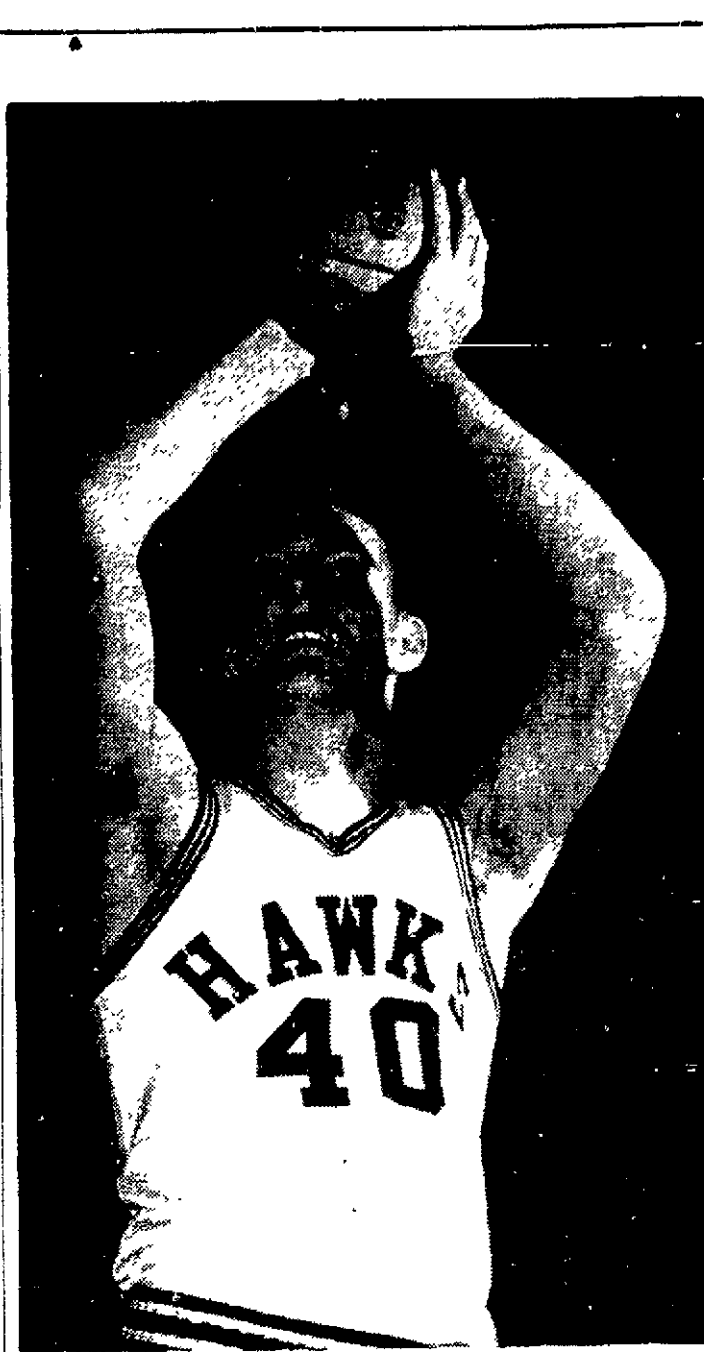

Mathews, a 33-year-old slugger who ranks ninth in baseball's all-time home run derby with 445 distant clouts, batted .233 last season. His 23 homers equaled his personal low and he drove in 74 runs.

"Ed appears to be in excellent shape," Bragan said after seeing Mathews at a baseball writers' dinner Sunday. "I look for him to stage a great comeback. I'll say this — he's the best 233 hitter I ever saw."

Mathews' troubles actually began in 1962 when he popped a right shoulder muscle while fouling off a pitch. He was bothered by the shoulder and an assortment of other ailments for periods last season and was platooned on occasions. He finally regained his regular job in August.

Best in League

"Eddie played the best third base of anybody in the National League in the last two months of the 1964 season," Bragan said. "He made great plays

Michigan Survives Scare, Nips MSU

Russell Hits 40 to Pace Wolves to 103-98 Overtime Win

BY TED MEIER

Michigan fears Purdue might be an apt headline in college basketball today.

The second-ranked Wolverines meet the unranked Boilermakers on Saturday. And off their close call against Michigan State Tuesday night, the Wolverines may be pardoned if they are apprehensive over their invasion of similarly unranked Purdue.

Michigan had to come from 10 points down to beat Michigan State 103-98 in overtime at East Lansing. It took a 40-point performance by Cazzie Russell to keep the Wolverines unbeaten in Big Ten play at 4-0 and 12-2 over-all.

The fourth-ranked Providence Friars, the only other team in the Associated Press top ten to see action, crushed Rhode Island 73-56 for their 13th straight victory and maintained their position as the nation's only unbeaten major team.

Texas Tech defeated Southern Methodist 107-89 in their battle for first place in the Southwest Conference. In other games, West Virginia edged Pitt 76-75, Boston Univ. nipped Dartmouth 67-65, St. Bonaventure whipped Fairfield 88-66, LaSalle humbled Lafayette 91-73 and Furman took South Carolina 81-66.

Curtis Hits 36

Michigan State, paced by Bill Curtis' 36 points, led Michigan 43-33 at halftime, fell 12 points behind at 70-58 then rallied to tie the regulation game at 88-88 on John Schick's basket with 14 seconds left.

The Spartans twice tied the score in the extra period, but never caught up after George Pomey's jump shot put the Ann Arbor lads ahead for good.

Providence fell behind 9-2 at the start, but soon stormed into the lead over Rhode Island and wasn't threatened thereafter.

Jim Walker's floor play sparked the Friars to their home court victory. He handed out 13 assists to back up Dexter Westbrook's top scoring with 20 points and Mike Riordan's guarding of Rhode Island's star, Dennis McGovern, who scored 12 points.

Dub Malaise, with 30 points, and Norman Reuther, with 29, led Texas Tech over SMU in their battle at Lubbock. John Cavacini's two free throws with 39 seconds left gave West Virginia its victory over Pitt at Pittsburgh. Ken Leary's 30-foot jumper with just two seconds remaining on the clock gave Boston Univ. its home court triumph over Dartmouth.

St. Bonaventure, which plays at Providence Thursday, snapped Fairfield's four-game winning streak behind the shooting of little 5-foot-8 John Riley. He came off the bench midway in the first half and made good on his first seven shots from the field. In addition, he contributed several key steals as the Bonnies opened a two-game road trip.

He's A Battler

"We've got to have a fellow like Eddie in there all the time," the Milwaukee manager said. "He's a battler. He's just as tough in the 15th inning as in the third. No matter what stage of the ball game, he's a fighter."

"Despite his bad slump last year, Mathews was highly respected by rival pitchers. They still don't give him good pitches and he doesn't chase bad balls. He's a long ball threat and gets on base as much as Hank Aaron."

Homecourt contests against second division clubs appear on the Friday night agendas of the Mid-Eastern Conference co-leaders Menasha and Kimberly.

Coach Gene Mason's Papermakers play host to Two Rivers, while New London invades the Bluejays' domicile. Other Friday night attractions send Neenah to Kaukauna and Clintonville to Shawano.

The Kaukauna-at-Two Rivers tilt, which was postponed because of icy road conditions has been rescheduled for Saturday. The Clintonville-Neenah makeup game will be played Feb. 6 on the Rockets' court.

Scoring Punch

Kimberly's primary objective will be to stop the scoring punch of veterans Dennis Sinkula and E. J. Streu. The Papermakers rely on the point-producing of 6-8½ center Chuck Meyer. John Reider directs the Papermaker assault from his guard post. Kimberly rolled to an 86-57 win in the initial meeting of the two teams.

Menasha, on the other hand, will be facing a team that pulled the surprise of the season in the Mid-Eastern Conference ranks. New London upset the highly-favored Jays, 65-64, on the former's floor earlier in the campaign.

Coach Bill Beyer's Bulldogs are led by the top's individual scoring leader Len Lathrop. Lathrop poured in 32 points against the Menashans.

Clintonville posted a hard-fought, 63-61 win over Shawano earlier while Kaukauna will be seeking revenge for a 62-57 loss to Neenah.

Lathrop has amassed 209 points in the eight conference outings for a 26.1 average. Meyer is next in line with 178 markers, for a 22.3 clip. No other individual exceeds the 20-point-per-game mark.

Packers Seek Bids for More Stadium Seats

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers announced today that they will open bids Feb. 11 to establish a cost estimate for adding from 5,300 to 12,000 permanent seats to City Stadium.

The stadium now seats 42,328, including 4,200 on bleachers.

The stadium commission authorized the Packer Corp. last week to obtain the bids and undertake construction if it deemed advisable. No municipal funds would be involved.

Hilbert Rallies for 50-44 Victory, Retains Little 9 Loop Lead

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE
	W	L
Hilbert	8	0
Winneconne	7	1
Hortonville	6	2
Reedsville	5	3
Omro	5	3
Freedom	4	4
Denmark	3	5
Bear Creek	1	7
Wrightstown	1	7
Shiocton	0	8

Hilbert staged a second-half rally to score a 50-44 victory over Reedsville, its eighth straight Little Nine Conference cage win of the season.

Winneconne retained undisputed second place with 90-38 verdict over Wrightstown. Other results were Omro 62, Shiocton 49; Hortonville 89, Bear Creek 49; and Freedom 88, Denmark 65.

Coach Jerry Sprenger's pace-setting Wolves trailed at half-time, 25-23, but bounced back to take a 2-point lead entering the final eight minutes. Four gift shots by Fran Wolf clinched the verdict. Lee Ott also performed well in a reserve role late in the game.

Schaeffer Hits 19
Andy Schaeffer, Hilbert's 6-6 center, led the way with 19 markers while Jim Diener added 13. Glenn Griepentrog and Ron Nohr paced Reedsville, with 12 and 11.

Mike Engstrom and Jeff Slang scored 17 points apiece as Omro scored its fifth conference win of the season. Al Hill, of Shiocton, took game honors with 19 Omro took a 19-12 first quarter lead and stayed in front the rest of the way. The Foxes sank 14 of 25 free throws, while the Chiefs hit 11 of 24.

Tom Nickel tied the Winneconne scoring record of 36 points (set by Dale Johnson) while pacing the Wolves to victory. He achieved it with a total of 16 field goals and four free throws. This, combined with Winneconne's height advantage, proved to be more than the Tigers could handle.

Dave Baitinger, hit for 21, and Nickel's brother, Jim, contributed 18. The best Wrightstown effort was turned in by Dick Haese, who hit for 11.

The Polar Bears led all the way on the strength of a shooting percentage of 53 per cent from the floor. Hortonville was aided by the poor shooting and ragged play of Bear Creek. Only one Bear Creek cager reached double figures, this being Ed Prunty with 12.

Scores 22 Points

Hortonville's Keith Krause took game scoring honors with 22. Teammate Bruce Kluge scored 15 points in the final quarter to bring his total for the game to 19. Polar Bear Roger Huebner tallied 12.

Denmark gave Freedom a scare in the first half, leaving the floor trailing only 36-32, but Freedom went into a press in the third quarter and the Viking threat was ended. Two other factors played big roles in the Irish win, these being 35-point output of Glen Bowers and the phenomenal free throw shooting exhibited by the Irish — 32 of 36 for 88.9 per cent.

Jim Schleis paced Denmark with 17 points, the second best total of the game. Tom Carney of Freedom had 12.

Bobcats Travel To Marquette

Bays Return Home For Weekend Pair Against Rochester

U. S. HOCKEY LEAGUE

St. Paul	10	6
Rochester	11	7
Waterloo	7	9
Marquette	7	10
Green Bay	6	9

GREEN BAY—Having shaken a record 7-game losing streak, Green Bay's Bobcats today set their sights on regaining a foothold in the tight United States Hockey League race.

The Green Bay skaters, who ended the longest famine in their history with an 8-6 victory champion Black Hawks Sunday, currently are 3½ games out of first place, but could enhance their position considerably this week with some assistance from Waterloo.

The Bobcats invade Marquette Thursday night, then return to the Brown County Arena Saturday night to host Rochester's second place Mustangs in the opener of a 2-game series.

A sweep of these assignments, admittedly a large order, plus a couple of defeats for the pacesetter St. Paul Steers, who invade Rochester Wednesday night and Waterloo for a weekend set, would lift the Green Bay icemen back into major contention.

Derailing the runaway Steers will take some doing, however. The St. Paul skaters, who haven't lost since dropping a 7-6 overtime decision to the Bobcats back on Dec. 20, have won eight straight and only Sunday dislodged idle Rochester from first place with a 6-2 victory over Marquette.

Bonduel won the exhibition match, 20-19.

Baylor, West Pace Lakers to 111-99 Victory

LA Duo Accounts For 83 Points; 76ers Lose, 107-105

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knickerbockers have parted company with Jerry West and Elgin Baylor for three weeks. If the Knicks had their way the separation would be permanent.

West and Baylor combined for 83 Los Angeles points Tuesday night as the Lakers whipped the Knicks 111-99 in the nightcap of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at New York.

It was the Knicks' third straight loss — all to the Western Division leaders.

In the opener, the Philadelphia 76ers suffered their first setback with Wilt Chamberlain in the line-up, bowing 107-105 to the Detroit Pistons, who held the league's leading scorer to 17 points.

The Cincinnati Royals topped San Francisco 115-107 in the other game scheduled, running the Warriors' record NBA losing string to 17 games.

West scored 47 points and Baylor 36 for the Lakers, who have beaten New York eight straight times this season. The pair hit 30 of the Lakers' 34 points in a third-period burst that opened a 17-point bulge.

The teams' next meeting is Feb. 17 and it'll be too soon for the Knicks.

Dischinger, Harding
The Pistons took advantage of Chamberlain's cold hand in the first game and, with Terry Dischinger and Reggie Harding leading the way, snapped the 76er-Chamberlain winning streak at three games.

Dischinger, who topped Detroit with 21 points, hit the clinching jump shot with six seconds to play. Harding tallied 20 points and took 17 rebounds, while Chamberlain, his pivot rival, was suffering through a 7-for-22 shooting night. The Stilt's 22 rebounds, 15 in the first half, and Hal Greer's 26 points kept Philadelphia close.

Adrian Smith's 32 points, Oscar Robertson's 26 and Jerry Lucas' 25 led the Cincinnati attack as the Royals added another defeat to the Warriors' consecutive loss mark. The defeat was the 39th in 50 games for San Francisco.

Cincinnati was in front all the way, leading by as many as 17 points in the third period. The Warriors, however, caught fire and cut the deficit to four points before the Royals opened a commanding 15-point margin in the final quarter.

Tom Meschery topped San Francisco with 26 points and Nate Thurmond added 20.

Walker Scores Knockout Win

Charley Powell Victim of Right In Second Round

LONDON (AP) — British heavyweight Billy Walker said today that the right-hand punch that knocked out Charley Powell of San Diego, Calif., could put him into the big time.

Walker, who knocked out Powell in the second round of a scheduled ten-rounder Tuesday night, said:

"I think my right is coming back. I knew I hurt him and he didn't trouble me."

Powell, who went six rounds with former world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson last month before being knocked out, agreed.

"Patterson couldn't catch me with a right like Walker did," Powell said. "Walker's got the best right I've been up against for some time. And that includes Cassius Clay."

Powell told newsmen in his dressing room after the fight:

"I hurt my left elbow. I think it could have come from one of Walker's big rights."

"I underestimated him. I was told the kid was green. I have fought them all and he is a lot better than few world contenders I can think of."

"He hurt me with a right and I was waiting for it next time."

But when it came again it was so damned fast I didn't see it."

Harry Did Many Great Things For Others, Says Layden

CHICAGO (AP) — "We lost a great one."

That was the comment Tuesday from Elmer Layden following the death of Harry Stuhldreher, his Notre Dame football teammate of Four Horsemen fame.

Layden, 61, executive of a railway equipment firm, at first broke down weeping when contacted by The Associated Press after Stuhldreher's death in a Pittsburgh hospital.

"I just talked to the hospital last night," Layden stated. His voice trailed into a quiet sob and he chokingly added, "I'll talk to you a little bit later," and hung up.

When more composed, Layden described Stuhldreher "just like a member of the Layden family."

"I had planned to visit Harry tomorrow."

Visitors Barred
Layden said he phoned Stuhldreher's hospital Monday and was surprised to learn he had a bad night and that visitors were barred.

"I planned to go to Pittsburgh anyway," said Layden.

"Originally Harry had a touch of pneumonia. Then he had that pancreas operation. We thought he was making progress, although he had nurses around the clock."

"He has done so many great things for others through the years, he gave of himself — to his owners of what they want, so the owners could talk about it at their meeting and meet with the players later."

The meeting was proposed by Ordell Braase, president of the players association, last Saturday in Cleveland. He said, "It is a meeting at this time is necessary in order to insure a better understanding between players and owners."

It is known that the association is trying to have a player installed on the NFL Pension Committee and that point likely will be discussed at a meeting with the owners.

Layden said.

Griffith Drops Split Decision

Gonzales Uses Jab to Gain Win Over Champion

HOUSTON (AP) — Manuel Gonzalez, an underdog from Odessa, Tex., used an effective round split decision over welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York Tuesday night in a non-title over-the-weight bout.

Gonzalez, ranked third among the welterweights, weathered a furious stretch drive by Griffith and earned the verdict which could have gone either way.

Griffith weighed 149 and Gonzalez 150½.

Referee Jimmy Webb had Gonzalez head 97-94, judge Maxie Ross saw it 97-94 in favor of Griffith and judge Earl Keel voted for Gonzalez, 96-95. The Associated Press card had Griffith the victor, 97-96.

Griffith's downfall apparently was a result of a cautious start during which Gonzalez scored with left jabs.

The world champion, losing only his sixth fight in 49 outings, was intent in finding a way to reach Gonzalez' midsection.

Gonzalez, an adroit boxer, used a stinging left jab and occasionally a series of double hooks to keep Griffith from finding his mark.

For most of the fight Gonzalez more than held his own, but then in the eighth round Griffith found the range with right hand leads.

In the 10th Griffith went all out. The champ tagged his foe with several hard left hooks and Gonzalez appeared to be fighting mainly in self-defense.

Lavey, Sheboygan.

Sports Were at Low Ebb in '36

Stuhldreher Tireless Worker While at UW

MADISON (AP)—Harry Stuhldreher, the former Wisconsin football coach who died in Pittsburgh today, was selected from a field of 50 to take over in 1936 when the sports program at Wisconsin, particularly football, was at a low state.

The school's athletic board was looking for a man to revamp the entire sports program and among those considered for the post were Fritz Crisler of Princeton; Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt; Dana X. Bible of Nebraska; Clark Shaughnessy of Chicago and "Biff" Jones of Oklahoma.

Stuhldreher was enjoying a commendable 11-year tenure at Villanova where his grid teams compiled a record of 65 victories against 25 defeats and 10 ties.

The ex-Notre Dame star was the board's favorite from the time it started to screen candidates.

"I'm glad to be at Wisconsin," he said, when Glenn Frank, then the university's president, preferred the post.

Succeeds Spears
Stuhldreher succeeded Clarence (Doc) Spears whose last Wisconsin team won only one of its eight games during the 1935 season.

Stuhldreher inherited the aftermath of the bitter Doc Meanwell-Spears feud that had demoralized the athletic department.

During his years at Wisconsin Stuhldreher's teams compiled a record of 45 victories, 62 losses and 6 ties.

Associates described Stuhldreher as a tireless worker in rebuilding Badger sports and he embarked on a series of speeches that took him to all parts of the state.

In three years he boosted Wisconsin's football fortunes to the stage where in 1938 the Badgers were in the championship Big Ten fight up to the final game. Minnesota won the title with a victory over the Badgers.

His best year was in 1942 when Wisconsin had an 8-1-1 record and finished second in the Big Ten. The loss was to Iowa, 6-0. The standout triumph was 17-0 over Ohio State. The Buckeyes played one more game than Wisconsin that year and won the championship.

That year the Helms Foundation of Los Angeles voted Wisconsin the mythical national champion.

During Stuhldreher's athletic directorship — he held that job as well as coach — major additions were made to capacities of the Wisconsin field house and Camp Randall Stadium.

Manitowoc Entry Wins Title in Reedsville Meet

Jack's Bar, of Manitowoc, defeated the Reedsville AA's, 103-97, for the championship of the Reedsville Lions basketball tournament.

Wally Lom's Bar, Green Bay, downed Brillion AA's, 122-79, for the consolation crown.

Mike Syndalar led Jack's with 24 points. John Lallensack, Frank Smoll and Dale Aulik chipped in with 21 apiece. Dick Eickert led Reedsville with 38, while Bob Blizzard added 20.

Dick Rosier netted 31 for Lom's in the consolation test. Buck Edinger led Brillion with 22.

Lallensack and Eickert were named most valuable players of the tournament. Named to the all-tournament team were Jerry Hopfensberger, Roy Smits and Rosier, Lom's Bar; Edinger and Noel Zander, Brillion; Blizzard and Dick Diener, Reedsville and Smoll, Aulik and Syndalar, Jack's.

Syndalar won the free throw accuracy award, while Lom's received the sportsmanship trophy.

Stuhldreher Delivered Groceries Before Going to Prep Grid Practice

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Harry Stuhldreher won football fame as one of the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame. But in high school days the horse came first.

He had to deliver groceries before practice.

Stuhldreher, who died Tuesday in Pittsburgh, was the first of that famed Notre Dame backfield to die, although three of the Seven Mules—the linemen—died earlier.

Stuhldreher's fellow Four Horsemen—Jim Crowley, Don Miller and Elmer Layden—had remained close friends and all mourned him as "a great athlete... a great man."

Residents here recall Stuhldreher as a quarterback and halfback on Massillon's 1917, 1918 and 1919 football teams—and as the kid whose father insisted he deliver groceries before he practiced football.

Stuhldreher's father ran a grocery store and the young athlete would haul deliveries after school in a horse-drawn wagon, his football togs tucked under the seat.

Strategist Sports Editor Luther Emery of the Massillon Evening Independent.

Shift Gator Bowl From Saturday to Friday in 1965

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The 21st annual Gator Bowl football game will be played on Friday, Dec. 31, 1965.

W. Ashley Verlender, outgoing president of the bowl association, said the executive committee, made up past presidents and present officers of the group, voted to move the game from Saturday for the first time in 11 years.

"We are doing this for a number of reasons, the main one being the conflict on television with the Orange, Rose, Sugar and Cotton Bowls if we stuck to Saturday this year," Verlender said.

The Gator Bowl game has made more money since moving from Jan. 1 to the Saturday nearest New Year's Day.

"This is a one-year move," Verlender said. "We will go back to Saturday the following year."

pendent, a high school freshman during Stuhldreher's last year at Massillon, recalls him as a strategist and good passer. He was "a good player," Emery recalls, but not outstanding as an individual on that high school team, which lost only one game.

Stuhldreher kept up his contacts with Massillon, though he never lived here after college, and some of his best friends were teammates from high school days. He came back for a game nearly every fall.

Crowley, who now lives in Scranton, Pa., said Stuhldreher was a man who "exemplified the real meaning of sportsmanship... a honor student, a great warm friend."

LaCrosse '5' Suffers First Loss of 1964-5

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Northern Illinois controlled the boards and cashed in at the free throw line to upset La Crosse 77-60 Tuesday night in toppling Wisconsin's last member of college basketball's undefeated ranks.

In other games, Plattville defeated Dubuque University 82-73 and MacAlester of Minnesota rallied in the second half for a 82-75 victory over Stout. The Carroll at Lake Forest game was postponed because of snow.

La Crosse's injury-riddled Indians, who had won 12 straight games this season after posting a 20-2 mark last year, were out-gunned on their home court.

Northern Illinois took a 37-34 halftime lead and then gradually pulled away with the help of free throw shooting. Northern hit on 27 of 38 free throws in evening its record 6-6.

The Indians were handicapped by the loss of Co - Capt. Doug Potter, high - scoring forward sidelined with an arm ailment. Terry Schmidt, co - captain and the team's No. 2 scorer, favored a twisted ankle and managed only two points.

Northern's W. L. Moore scored 23 points and John Moore, no relation, 22. Ron Byers and Leon Kasuboske topped La Crosse with 13 each.

mate at Notre Dame, felt he "was the greatest quarterback in the history of Notre Dame University... not only a great passer and blocker but also a great safety man on defense."

Miller, who now lives in Cleveland, and his family remained close to the Stuhldreher.

Great Leader

Layden, now of Chicago, recalled Stuhldreher as "a great leader and a great man... he gave so much of himself that it's impossible to put into words."

Miller said he was shocked to learn of Stuhldreher's death because he had received favorable reports on his condition and had planned to visit him next week.

Three linemen on the Four Horsemen-Seven Mule team preceded Stuhldreher in death—guards Noble Kaiser and John Weible and end Ed Hunsinger.

Still surviving, besides the former backs, are tackles Rip Miller, now assistant athletic director at Navy, and Joe Bach, a Pennsylvania state road commissioner; end Chuck Collins, a New Jersey attorney, and center Adam Walsh, U.S. Marshal in Maine.

Soggy Ground Gets Credit for Saving Sports Parachutist

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Gordon Lowe, 25, a sports parachutist who has made 17 jumps, credits a soggy pasture for keeping him from "getting busted up real good."

He fell 3,600 feet Sunday suspended from a parachute that had opened only one-third. Lowe, landing on his back, made an eight-inch dent in the muddy ground.

"All I remember is the shock of hitting," he said. "It took a few seconds to realize I could move."

Dr. C. B. Anagnostis of La Marque, president of the Galveston Skydivers, ran to Lowe, checked and found no bones broken — only severe bruises.

Lowe walked to a friend's car and rode to a hospital. He hoped to be dismissed today and to get back to parachuting in a few weeks.

Birthdays Don't Mean Much After You Reach 128

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan forgot to celebrate its birthday Tuesday.

The state was 128 years old but apparently no one in state government remembered — or if they did, didn't bake a cake or send a birthday card.

A reporter mentioned to several state officials that on Jan. 26, 1837, the state officially was admitted to the Union.

He drew looks of surprise and remarks such as, "It was? Why didn't we do something?"

Gov. George Romney issued a proclamation about clergy week, but nothing about Michigan.

The state Senate observed the 54th birthday of Sen. William Aromano, D-Warren but it didn't give the state a tumble.

Man Charged In Slayings Of Two Girls

NEW YORK (AP) — A new suspect was charged today with the sensational double murder of two career girls in Manhattan after a prolonged investigation which previously had implicated another man.

Richard (Ricky) Robles, 22, a short, skinny dope addict, weighing about 130 pounds, was held without bail in the killing of Janice Wylie and Emily Hoffer in their fashionable East Side apartment 17 months ago.

Clues gleaned from other narcotics users were said to have figured in his arrest.

Another man, George Whitmore Jr., 22, a Brooklyn drifter, arrested last spring in the case, was released today with the charge against him in abeyance.

Robles appeared slight and pale as he was brought to Criminal Court for arraignment. He wore a thigh-length black coat over rumpled khaki trousers.

During the long investigation, he had spent nine months in prison after he turned himself in voluntarily as a parole violator back on the dope habit.

Secretary of State James Hare, keeper of the state's archives, that he had noticed the admission date cited on a calendar at home.

Future Students Ask Questions

On How to Become a Badger

MADISON — It's a constant quiz session at the University of Wisconsin office of admissions — with future students firing questions of all kinds before taking the steps necessary to become a Badger.

"When admission policies change as they have at the universities this year, it is particularly important that young men and women who intend to join our student body have correct up-to-the-minute information at their disposal," Wayne L. Kuckkahn, Madison campus registrar and director of admissions, stated.

"I am sure that as you study the new policies you will realize they are a continuation of the generous standards of the past. They have been developed to assure a student of a reasonable chance of success in his undergraduate program. They also point out to the student who may be inadequately prepared what he or she needs to do before attempting university work."

With the help of Dr. Peter J. Chineth, acting registrar and director of admissions on the University's Milwaukee campus, and Gladys S. Meier, registrar and director of admissions of the University Center System, Kuckkahn selected a set of the most often asked questions coming to their offices.

Many Out-of-State Students

For example, a prospective student from Harvard, Ill., asked:

"Is it true that non-resident new freshmen will not be accepted for admission next September?"

Kuckkahn answered:

"No! We expect to have an unusually large number of applications from out-of-state residents. We have set a deadline of March 1, 1965, on the Madison campus, and Aug. 1 on the Milwaukee and Center campuses. The Madison campus intends to maintain a balance of one non-resident new freshman for every two newcomers from Wisconsin homes."

From Fort Atkinson came this question:

"If I am ineligible for admission as a new freshman now, what can I do to enter later?"

The registrar wrote the young man:

"You can attend another college, or take courses through the University's Extension division. If you are a Wisconsin resident and earn at least a C average on 15 semester credits of course work, you become eligible to enter the University as a transfer student."

A girl in Wisconsin Rapids asked:

"If I send my application to one of the University offices of admission and prior to the beginning of school decide to transfer to another UW campus, what should I do?"

She was told:

"All you have to do is notify the office of admissions that has your application on file that you intend to transfer. That office will forward your admission folder to the other campus. It's as simple as that."

A student now enrolled in a Winona, Minn., high school asked:

"How do I obtain an application to enroll at a University of Wisconsin Center?"

High Schools Have Brochures

Kuckkahn answered:

"The director of the Center you wish to attend has admission applications and brochures. Request them from him or from the principal or guidance counselor in your high school. Next, return your application to the Center of your choice, along with your high school record. Milwaukee and Madison campus admissions may obtain admission applications from the registrars on the respective campuses, and these should be returned to the office of admissions in the same city."

"The same application is used for all 11 campuses of the University. Your high school also should have a supply of admission forms on hand."

Here's a question from a youth in Vilas County:

"Is it true that the principal's recommendation is considered in the admission decision?"

This is true, Kuckkahn said. "Every recommendation submitted by a principal, guidance counselor, or teacher is read very carefully and is a factor in every case. Special emphasis is placed on these recommendations when the University is concerned about the high school performance of a particular individual."

A Milwaukee girl asked:

"Will an algebra or geometry course successfully completed in the seventh or eighth grade satisfy part of the math requirement?"

Kuckkahn responded:

"It will. All your high school has to do is indicate on your transcript that you have completed successfully one year of algebra or geometry in these

Vietnam Policy

Continuation

'Tragic Mistake' To Expand War, Nelson Declares

BY JAMES BARTELT
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—Sen. Gaylord Nelson said Tuesday the United States should continue "doing what we are doing for the present in Viet Nam."

Nelson examined the alternatives for a Viet Nam policy in a speech at the Junior Chamber of Commerce awards banquet and earlier in the day at a question and answer session with students and some faculty members at St. Norbert College. He also proposed continuation of the foreign aid program at about its present level.

Nelson agreed "there is no evidence of success" after 10 years of American activity in Viet Nam but he said it would be a "tragic mistake" to expand the war and the United States' role in it.

The result would be, he said, that Red China would enter the war and create another Korean war which "we couldn't win in the long pull unless you were willing to do what I don't think anybody is willing to do, drop bombs on China."

Only Alternative

The other alternative is to pull out of Viet Nam, he said. Nelson said this cannot be done without viewing what might happen next in the spread of Communism in an area from Japan to India.

Nelson said Viet Nam must be viewed in the light of the total role the United States must play as a world leader as "just one of the failures we will have over the years as a world leader." It should be weighed against other events in the total picture like saving Italy from Communism and saving Western Europe with the Marshall Plan, he said.

"We ought to recognize that we will have to take risks, but it is important that we do so for the best interests of our country," he said.

Nelson was asked at the St. Norbert appearance why the United States cannot be winning in Viet Nam.

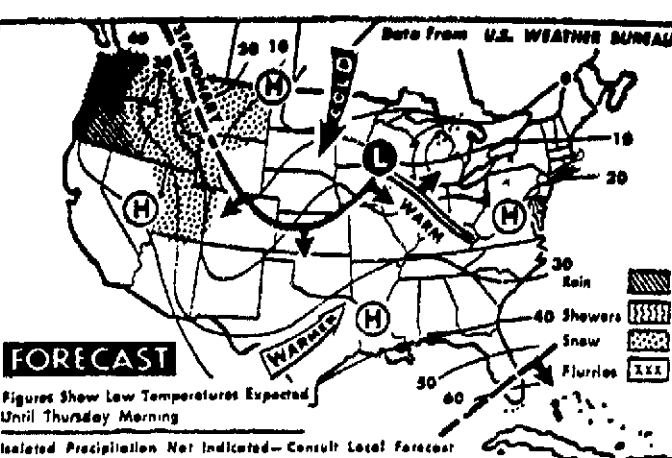

He said the problems were the lack of any nationalistic feeling on the part of the Vietnamese, the fact that the government represents no "philosophical position" against what the Communists are saying, and that a 10 to 1 margin in manpower is needed in fighting guerrillas who vanish into the jungles and farms.

Forecasts Aid Cut

Nelson predicted President Johnson's $3.4 billion foreign aid request would be cut by from $2 to $4 million. He said he thought Congress would end aid to Egypt and Indonesia, with which he agreed, but that the program should retain flexibility.

Foreign aid should be viewed as part of national defense, and "this $3 billion is as effective as any $3 billion in the $50 billion national defense budget," he said.

Nelson predicted there will be a reduction of about $2 billion in excise taxes by this session of Congress. He said the theory that cutting taxes spurs the economy was proved by the $1 billion income tax cut which brought on a $5 billion increase in revenues.

Snow Flurries Are Predicted for the lower Lakes and central Appalachians Wednesday night with rain in the Pacific Northwest and snow in the Rockies. It will be colder in the northeast and the Ohio and Tennessee valleys, and warmer from the Rockies to the central Mississippi valley. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Market Order

Is Sought by

Cherry Council

DETROIT (AP) — The National Council of Cherry Producers voted 44-2 Tuesday to ask a federal marketing order for supply management of cherries in the Great Lakes area.

Hearings on the proposed order will be held March 10 at Grand Rapids, Mich., March 15 at Sturgeon Bay, Wis., March 18 at Rochester, N. Y., and March 22 at Gettysburg, Pa.

The move comes after a record crop last year that saw many cherries in the Great Lakes area unmarketed because of low prices.

How to Market

A council spokesman said that if the order is approved, a determination will be made of how much of the crop can be marketed. If there is a 10 per cent oversupply, the spokesman said, each grower would be allowed to market only 90 per cent of his crop through normal channels. The other 10 per cent would have to be diverted to non-food uses or exported to new markets.

Oswald Herkner of Traverse City, Mich., president of the Michigan Cherry Producers Association, was elected council president to succeed Peter Nesbitt of Albion, N. Y.

William Gifford of Benton Harbor, Mich., Nesbitt and Herkner were named to head a committee to sponsor passage and adoption of a federal marketing order.

The Air Force Academy Cheating Scandal

The cheating scandal at the United States Air Force Academy focuses attention once more upon what may be a major American problem.

The Air Force, Naval and Military Academies have honor systems, somewhat similar to that used at Lawrence University, for instance. Students sign pledges that they will not "lie, steal or cheat, or tolerate among us those who do." There is practically no supervision of honesty by faculty members. Other institutions try a variety of ways to discourage or prevent cheating, from proctoring examinations and changing questions at the last minute to files of term papers to prevent plagiarism.

Certainly it is disturbing to learn from this recent investigation that at least 100 Air Force cadets were involved in cheating. More than ten years ago, 90 West Point cadets left the Corps after a similar investigation. These were all young men who, because of stringent examinations and character references, were considered as superior scholars and of high moral reputations.

Major General Warren, at the Air Force Academy, said that "I am delighted that it was uncovered by the cadets themselves. . . . The morale of the wing will profit because of this proof that the honor system ultimately works."

The major trouble with trying to encourage students to report evidence of cheating is that it is contrary to everything in a college student's background. The "tattle-tale" is scorned by every one at the elementary school level except perhaps his mother. High school student proctors are seldom really expected to report infractions of regulations because administrators know they simply won't. At that age, there is too much difference of opinion between adult and student over the seriousness of infractions or the necessity for regulations. There is also, in these days of emphasis upon public opinion, a need to be recognized and approved by one's peers.

The honor system, basically, is an effort to try to treat college students as adults and rather exceptional adults at that. While probably the large majority do not cheat, there are few who are mature enough to accept the responsibility beyond their own actions. A student who would not hesitate to report a bank robbery will not report cheating. He may even contribute toward it by agreeing to lend his own work for copying or to relay test questions.

But institutions which do not have honor systems tend to prolong this immaturity. College students who see themselves observed during examinations and who obviously are not trusted tend to keep up the attitude, prevalent in lower schools, of a united front of student against the enemy, in this case the faculty or the system. When an examination is considered unfair or a grade system inadequate, it is a small step to accepting the right to try to beat it. Certainly another contributory factor in cheating is the pressure from outside, rightly considered unfair by hard working students, for high grades.

The individualistic student, mature and self-confident, will not cheat unless he considers the system itself unfair or unethical and that he has no other recourse. Even then, the chances of cheating are small. But the student who depends for his values upon the group—and this often carries over into life outside of school—will be influenced only by the attitude of the group. Obviously the honor system, rather than close supervision at the college age, is far superior in pressing toward maturity.

For one reason or another there are cheaters at every level and walk of life. But if it becomes the accepted means of getting through a university education, we had better look at the system itself.

Steel Firm Representatives Outline Position on Garage

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Last October, we were asked by Alderman John Ayres, if a pre-engineered steel building could be used for the construction of the new city garage and if so, would there be any savings. After looking at the preliminary plans that had been prepared, we said yes, and we still do. Shortly thereafter, by invitation, we made our one and only appearance before the city council. This appearance was a one hour general discussion of pre-engineered steel buildings. At this time nor anytime thereafter have we appeared before any city official and tried to sell them a building. We all know a city must purchase through public bids only.

Recently, the mayor and his staff have been using the press to influence the public in conduct in the field. This will give unbounded satisfaction to people generally.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Jan. 24, 1940.

The first officers of the newly organized Men's League of the Appleton Salvation Army unit were Harold Sanders, president; James Wardell, vice president; Raymond Rindt, secretary-treasurer, and Ben Young, chaplain. The purpose of the group was to promote good fellowship.

Miss Jane Brunke, Appleton, was chairman of the informal "Jitterbug" winter party of the Theda Clark Nurses Alumnae at Valley Inn that week. Assisting were Miss Carolyn Maurer, Appleton; Mrs. Howard Christofferson, Neenah, and Mrs. Anthony August, Menasha. Officers installed at the meeting of the National Association of Post Office Clerks Auxiliary included Mrs. Silas Krueger, president; Mrs. Albert Schroth, vice president; Mrs. Earl Goehler, secretary-treasurer. During the social hour, prizes at bridge were won by Mrs. Edward Purner Jr., Mrs. Herman Schneider and Mrs. Gordon Schulze.

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Jan. 26, 1955.

A couples buffet supper was being planned by the Fox River Valley Alumnae Association of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. The committee included Mrs. Arnold Evans, chairman, Mrs. Edwin Laughlin, Mrs. Francis Scholtz and Miss Betty Plowright.

Mrs. John LeFevre was in charge of the round table reading of Isen's "The Doll House," planned by the drama study group of the Appleton American Association of University Women. The group was to meet at the home of Mrs. Joseph Webb.

New officers seated by the Postal Auxiliary at Appleton were Mrs. John Buha Jr., president; Mrs. Edward Polzin, vice president; Mrs. James Schreiter, treasurer, and Mrs. Donald Schultz, secretary. Mrs. Joseph Haag, secretary of state auxiliary to the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, served as installing officer.

defense of their positions regarding the planned city garage. It is now time to publish the facts and not innuendos.

Mr. Bues, Public Works Director, stated in The Post-Crescent, January 19th, Page B-2, "They were asked to bring a contract in writing and I would recommend it, and they never have." This is not true.

On January 12th Mr. Ron Amundson, representing Consolidated Construction Co. and Dale Cannon, District Manager, Stran-Steel Corporation, were invited to attend a Public Works Committee meeting with Alderman John Ayres. Mr. Ayres felt we would now be given a chance to explain and show exactly how pre-engineered components could save the city money. We were never given an opportunity to do this. If we had been able to make our presentation and Mr. Bues and the Public Works Committee felt our suggestions had merit, they could then recommend further study.

Another point ignored by Mr. Bues was the fact the city was already under contract with a local engineering firm and he could not negotiate any contract with anyone else.

Thursday, the 21st, Mayor Mitchell saw fit to control the press in order to defend his position in an article printed in the Post-Crescent. The entire article was quoted from statements during a closed meeting of the council in which only the press was allowed, not the public.

Mayor Mitchell tried to compare the airport hangar building to the proposed city garage, which is impossible. For instance, the hangar building has three special doors which cost $19,997.00. The city garage will have four doors and they will cost less than $2,500.00. Read the article and see how the mayor slides over this point. The pre-engineered steel building was only a small part of the total cost of $176,573.00. It is a matter of public record that the pre-engineered steel building cost was only $42,625.00.

The mayor made an inference regarding the cost per sq. ft. of the new airport terminal building that was misleading and unfair. You cannot compare the terminal with the new city garage. This is somewhat like a homeowner comparing the cost of his home to that of his garage and expecting them to be equal.

We the undersigned individually have spent 13 years in the design and construction of Stran-Steel buildings. Over this period of time we have entered into contracts totaling millions of dollars. We know that 95 per cent of the people with whom we deal are not aware of the complexity of a building project. Thru proper research and planning our firm has saved these people untold thousands of dollars that otherwise would have been spent. Also, the continuance of our business is based on our satisfied customer telling other potential customers of their confidence in our ability to submit economical design to meet their budget.

We have known for months that the city of Appleton was planning to build a garage. It was never our intent to become involved in anyway. We knew it was being designed for conventional construction. We were asked a question and we responded.

The remarks quoted above and several other recently made public are a direct reflection on our company and industry. We are prepared to defend our position and are starting by writing this letter. We are prepared to discuss this in public with anyone.

Idea of Constitutional Convention Is Revived; Not Likely to Happen

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—The slow campaign for extending the terms of office of governor and lieutenant governor to a four-year limit that is compatible with the size and complexity of modern government is in danger of collapsing because had considerable public discussion. It was a kind of referendum, since there was no showing that either candidate found any special resistance to his endorsement of the idea.

But during that campaign there was no platform or other discussion of longer terms for members of the State Assembly. It is a brand new idea. Its backers obviously are trying to hitch a ride, in a manner of speaking, on the campaign on behalf of a more stable and effective executive role in government, which is something altogether different than the problems of representation in the legislature.

The essence of democratic arrangements in representative government, it may very well be argued, is a requirement for frequent elections for legislators. Thus it is probable that some public support that might be available for the four-year gubernatorial term will be discouraged because of the irrelevant intrusion of the assemblyman's tenure question.

COUNTIES

Whether county officials should be elected in any case is debatable. A respectable slice of public opinion holds that the list of county officials elected should be pared down drastically, at the very least.

These men are not chosen out of policy considerations. They are elected to perform what the law calls ministerial functions, some of them coming pretty close to routine clerical jobs. What the advocates of longer terms are saying, in effect, is that if the voters of a county make a mistake and happen to put into office an incompetent clerk or district attorney, they should not be allowed to get rid of him until four years have passed.

Gov. Knowles for reasons best known to himself was persuaded to include the four-year term idea for assemblymen and county officials in his first message to the legislature. Yet he betrayed some misgivings and suggested that the legislators put the question to an advisory referendum before they get down to serious business on the proposition. If they follow that advice, the outcome is not hard to predict. The people will almost surely resist, and the whole tenure reform movement which essentially involves only the governor's office will collapse.

The Stronger We Get, The Weaker We Are

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The stronger we get, the weaker we are. This is rapidly becoming the paradox of military strength in the modern world. And this is why the whole nuclear arms race is such a grim travesty of "defense" and "security."

As more and more smaller nations acquire the ability to make and deliver nuclear bombs, the strength of the United States and Russia becomes less and less important. For we and the Russians have the most to lose, and neither of us can afford an "incident" that might escalate into nuclear warfare.

The H-bomb is wiping out differences in size and strength; indeed, it is reversing these traditional differences. In another decade, perhaps a half-dozen powers will have the bomb; and then another half-dozen. What does it matter if we can kill our "enemies" 20 time over, if they can do it even once?

The diplomatic and military frustration among the large powers today comes from what the behavioral scientists call "cognitive dissonance." All that fancy phrase means is that we know one thing, and we believe another. We believe in a "strong America," but we know that strength of arms has become a dangerous, or fatal illusion.

We are like a giant walking along a busy thoroughfare, carrying a load of dynamite in both arms. A Nasser can tweak our nose, a newborn African nation can kick our shins—but we cannot drop the dynamite to retaliate, or everybody will go up in smoke.

When we were weaker, when the world still had only conventional weapons, then we were stronger. We could move ships and men and planes in some decisive way, and both sides knew there was a limit to the damage that could be done. Past war was never "civilized," but it was finite. If ended when a specific goal was achieved.

War of the future, however, is irreversible. Once set into full-scale motion, it cannot be halted when a city has fallen or an outpost been captured. War now has a built-in self-defeating mechanism—no longer "us or them," but "all or nobody."

Every responsible leader—political, military, scientific—on both sides of the Iron Curtain knows this to be a fact. But our whole inherited system of beliefs and ideologies will not square with this fact; and so we keep going from strength to strength, getting weaker as we go, making more certain that if the ultimate confrontation comes, nothing at all will be left. This is what we call "A strategy."

Potomac Fever— by Jack Wilson

Elderly pensioners in Florida are reported living together without marriage. Surely they should be allowed to be a little social without losing their security.

Query: Do all Americans get the feeling that the country is closer to war when Congress is in session than when it isn't?

New Army Department Created

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Feb. Dec. 15, 1944

The President has created a new Department of Mississippi. It will comprise the State of Mississippi and that part of Tennessee west of the Tennessee River, recently known as the Department of the Tennessee.

Maj. Gen. N.J.T. Dana, U.S. Volunteers, is assigned by the President to the command of the Department of the Mississippi.

By direction of the President, Maj. Gen. F. Steele is relieved of the command of the 7th Army Corps and the Department of Arkansas, and Maj. Gen. J. J. Reynolds is assigned to the command in his stead. Maj. Gen. Steele will report to Maj. Gen. Canby for a new assignment command.

Gen. Thomas Crittendon, who has been out of active service since the Battle of Chickamauga, has been assigned to duty under Gen. Meade.

It is said with a view to increase the efficiency of the army, a large number of Major Generals and Brigadiers whose appointments or promotions were secured by political influence alone, are to be mustered out of service at a very early day. The vacancies thus occasioned are to be held as rewards for meritorious

Ruling Anticipated From Federal Court On Miscegenation

Virginia Couple Appealing
Conviction Under State Law

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A federal court hears arguments today on a case almost certain to lead to the constitutionality of laws in 19 states that forbid the intermarriage of whites with other races.

The three-judge court is being asked by a Caroline County, Va., couple to throw out a Virginia law which provides that "if any white and colored person shall go out of this state for the purpose of being married and with the intention of returning... they shall be punished."

An appeal of the decision, whichever way it does, seems sure to go to the U.S. Supreme Court, which has not issued a definitive ruling on state miscegenation laws.

Three Children
Richard Perry Loving, 31, a white construction worker, and Mildred Jeter Loving, 25, part Indian and part Negro, were married in Washington, D.C., in June 1958. They have three children.

When they returned to Caroline County to live, they were convicted of violating the miscegenation statute and were given the option of a year in prison or banishment as a couple from Virginia for 25 years.

They returned to Washington after Circuit Court Judge Leon M. Bazile directed that their sentence be suspended if they didn't visit Virginia at the same time. They have visited the state separately since but not together.

Financial Difficulties
After encountering financial difficulties three years ago, they wrote former U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy seeking his help in returning to Virginia to live. Through the American Civil Liberties Union, the case was taken by attorneys Bernard S. Cohen and Philip J. Hirschkop of Alexandria.

The attorneys asked a federal court ruling, contending the Virginia law violates the Lovings' rights under the 14th Amendment relating to equal protection of the law and due process. The state contends the 14th Amendment was not intended to prevent the states from banning interracial marriages.

Supreme Court
The U.S. Supreme Court earlier this month struck down in a unanimous decision a Florida law dealing with extra-marital cohabitation by whites and Negroes but it did not rule on interracial marriage.

Nine years ago, the Virginia Supreme Court upheld the state miscegenation law in the case of a Chinese seaman who had appealed the annulment of his marriage to a white woman. The U.S. Supreme Court ordered the case sent back to a lower state court for retrial, but it never was.

Ike Flying to London

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower leaves by military jet today en route to London for services for Sir Winston Churchill.

Mrs. Eisenhower remains at the Eisenhower winter home at nearby Palm Desert.

Eisenhower was to stop overnight at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm, then continue to Washington, D.C., Thursday.

Air Force Academy Cheating

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Fidgety cadets continue to parade before a special board of officers at a secret hideout in the investigation of cheating at the U.S. Air Force Academy. The probe may stretch into weeks.

Rumors and counter-rumors fly over the picturesque 18,000-acre campus at the foot of the Rocky Mountains. Administrators have clamped a tight gag on everyone connected with the school.

Faculty Member
A Colorado Springs newspaper reported that a faculty member was involved in the case. More than 100 cadets, including 30 members of the football team, have been implicated.

Another rumor had a group of Air Force football players contacting a West Coast university on the prospects of enrolling there. The coach of the university said, "I have talked to no Air Force cadets."

One cadet, disdaining the order for silence, told a newspaper reporter that football coach Ben Martin would have only eight varsity players back next Monday, joining the 29 announced by the academy last week.

"We assume every one of the boys implicated will resign rather than face court-martial," an academy spokesman said. "It's the best way out, but it's a slow process."

U. S. Unmoved by Coup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The latest government upheaval in South Viet Nam aroused little surprise and no sense of crisis today in official Washington.

U.S. authorities clung to the hope that some kind of civilian administration would yet arise to rule. The United States had strongly backed the regime of Premier Tran Van Huong, now deposed.

It was accepted here that the military commander, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh has enhanced his own power and prestige in toppling the civilian government, yet officials said privately that the new coup does not mean any real shift of power in Saigon because it has been concentrated mainly in the military and Khanh's leadership anyway.

The chief interest here centered on two questions: What policies would the new administration pursue toward prosecuting the war against the Communists; and what, if any, steps would the military leaders be willing to take to rebuild a facade of civilian administration.

Knowles to Revive Turnpike Authority

Study Possibility of Toll Roads

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Gov. Warren P. Knowles intends to revive the 16-year-old Wisconsin Turnpike Authority to make an investigation of the feasibility of toll roads.

One of his purposes is to explore the possibility of achieving his "dream" of a new Lake Michigan shore route from Milwaukee to Michigan through the Fox River Valley, he told a conference of county highway commissioners and committee-men here Tuesday.

The governor said there is reason to believe the data collected in 1949 which indicated toll roads could not be justified economically are out-dated today.

Practical Approach
"I am interested in talking about practical and realistic approaches to our financial needs, he said, as he sketched for the local road administrators the fiscal problems of meeting the demands for highway expansion and road service improvement.

Knowles addressed sympathetically aspiration of the county highway men for bigger and better road building budgets, but indicated he is skeptical about the acceptability of new highway taxation in the face of the other state finance needs.

He said he is exploring the possibility of some borrowing for the acceleration of the interstate highway construction program within the state, by way of pledging future federal aid allotments for the amortization of the loans.

Legislative Message
He also pledged he will deliver a main message to the legislature on highway needs, containing his own recommendations for the amount of new building desired, and means for paying for it.

"I do not go along with those groups who, for politically or purely idealistic purposes, talk shops opened for business. Although some of the merchants persisted in the strike, it appeared that the right-wing challenge to the leftward course of Syria's Baath party government had failed.

Workers guarded by troops used sledgehammers to break locks on shops that remained closed.

Opposing Buddhists Are Rejoicing; Coup Poses New Problems for U. S.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's generals returned Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh to power in a bloodless military coup today and the Buddhist opposition to the civilian government began jubilant celebrations. Khanh charged Premier Tran Van Huong's 3-month-old government had failed to stabilize the chaotic situation in the nation's major cities, impeding the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

The coup posed new problems for the United States, which had hoped civilian government could rally the populace behind the war effort.

The U.S. embassy said in a statement: "Until we can assess more clearly the nature and extent of the important events set in motion this morning, it would be premature for the U.S. mission to comment or render a judgment."

Military Council
Reliable sources said Khanh and the military council he heads had planned the coup for Feb. 2 but decided to pull it off today because U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor was on a trip to Laos and Thailand.

Five leading Buddhist monks

who had been making a "fast to the death" to bring down Premier Huong began eating late this afternoon.

An estimated 4,000 supporters flocked into the Buddhist headquarters, which previously had been barred to them by paratroopers, and dragged the beds on which the monks had been resting into the streets.

Buddhist Appeal
The Buddhist hierarchy broadcast an appeal "to all chapters throughout the country" to cease the antigovernment campaign.

Authorities prepared for trouble as reports circulated that Buddhist mobs would sack newspapers which opposed the Buddhist campaign against Huong.

Police had orders to use tear gas to disperse them. Khanh called in Deputy U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson to tell him of the military takeover.

By the time Taylor returned to Saigon, Khanh had left the capital for his seaside headquarters at Vung Tau. "Now it's Taylor or Khanh," a Vietnamese officer said. "One or the other has to go."

Khanh is understood to have made the recall of the ambassador one of his prime objectives. From the standpoint of the Vietnamese government, the coup was more apparent than real. Khanh had never released the real reins of power and had made it clear since Dec. 20 — when he pulled a partial coup — that Huong was staying in office only on his sufferance.

See Fight for County Boards Run Full Time

Association Counsel
Action on Reform

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The legislative watchdog for Wisconsin county governments has warned its clients that a fight to end part-time representation may result from a move to reapportion county boards.

A. J. Thelen, for 30 years legislative counsel and secretary of the Wisconsin County Boards Association, Tuesday told county courthouse leaders to beware of efforts to amend the Hollander committee bill to achieve so-called "small county boards," which he said would be the vehicle for three to five full-time supervisors who would abandon the "grass roots" idea of county government, require full-time salaries and staffs, and probably boost the cost of county boards over the price of the so-called "large" boards.

Thelen told the county officers there is no way to prevent county board reapportionment to comply with the "one man, one vote" rule enunciated by the U.S. and the Wisconsin.

Hoveida New Iran Premier

Mansour Dies of
Bullet Wounds
From Assassin

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Finance Minister Amir Abass Hoveida took office today as premier following the death of Hassan Ali Mansour from an assassin's bullets.

Hoveida pledged to advance the shah's reform program.

Hoveida made two changes in Mansour's Cabinet and presented the new government to the shah. He named Javad Mansour, brother of the dead premier, as minister of state; and Gen. Hassan Pakrevan as minister of information.

"The new government will pursue Mansour's aims and programs outlined in party programs presented to Parliament last March when Mansour took office," Hoveida said in an interview.

Hoveida, 50, kept the Finance Ministry under his own supervision.

Mansour, 41, was shot last Thursday as he prepared to enter Parliament with new agreements with major oil companies on offshore explorations. Police are holding a 20-year-old part-time student, Mohammed Bokharai, as the gunman. They said Bokharai and a small group of Moslem fanatics he headed plotted the assassination.

Iowa Teacher Joins Brillion School Faculty

Earl Herring Takes Over as Physical Education Instructor

BRILLION — Earl Herring, 28, a graduate of Derby High School and Simpson College, both in Iowa, started Monday as Brillion High School's boys physical education instructor. He replaces Harry Drier who became high school guidance director due to the resignation of Richard Hogstad.

Herring will be head track coach this spring and next year will assume the basketball coaching position now handled by Drier.

Taught in Iowa

Herring taught three years at Colo, Iowa, and three years at Villisca, Iowa. He was head basketball coach all six years and has had experience coaching baseball, football and track. While in high school he was an all-conference basketball selection for two years and was a state honorable mention choice one year.

Mrs. Robert Endries was hired to teach seventh and eighth grade social studies and reading. She replaces Arthur Hammann who resigned Dec. 18. Supt. Gaylord Unbehauen, told board members recently that he has discussed with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Orville Griesse the problems faced by St. Mary Catholic School in regard to a school lunch program.

Joint Program

Among the alternatives and possibilities was a joint program whereby the food could be prepared in the public school kitchen. Problems presented by such a proposal will be encountered on the part of both groups and at present, the plan has been given no serious consideration.

Approximately 50 families answered a preliminary questionnaire distributed at St. Mary School concerning the hot lunch proposal. Of these only about 16 families would be interested in such a program. The subject will be brought up at the parish meeting in February.

The board will review the salary schedule at its Feb. 8 meeting.

AMHERST — The old George W. Cate home, a half mile west of the village on Hy. 10, built more than 100 years ago, will be razed by its present owner, Alphonse Ostrowski, who lives on the adjoining farm. The house has long been a Portage County landmark.

Pastor's Wetland Project Progressing at New London

70-Foot Dam on West Edge Now Being Built

NEW LONDON — Work on the wetland project of the Rev. H. E. Lange, Seymour, along State 54 between New London and Northport is progressing on schedule.

The latest work done includes the installing of a 70-foot long dam near the western edge of the swamp area. Albert Holly, Waupaca County conservationist, said the dam would be more like a weir, a dam which has facilities to regulate the flow of water.

The dam is constructed of steel sections about three feet wide and 12 feet long that self-lock together. The sections will be driven into the swamp land until they protrude only three feet above the surface of the land. Work on the dam and culvert for controlling the water depth is being done by the Waupaca County Highway Department.

Cover 500 Acres

About 1.2 miles of dike have been constructed so far. It will stretch about two miles along State 54. Rev. Lange said the project would cost $19,000 and cover 500 acres of swamp land in the Towns of Lebanon and Mukwa. About 300 acres of other land will be affected.

Plans are to maintain a 1½

11 Students Listed on Amherst Honor Roll

AMHERST — Amherst High School seniors, Mary Henke, Diane Meronek, and Dale Tetzloff were placed on the honor roll for the second period of the school year.

foot water level area to promote a wildlife area for migratory water fowl and provide an area for furbearing animals.

The dike, being constructed by C. H. Peters, Fremont, is six feet high and about 30 feet wide at the base. The shovels being used in the project have left a channel on the inside of the dike where soil for building the dike was removed.

Water Seeping

Water already has seeped into the channel indicating that the area should adjust to holding the surface water.

Rev. Lange said there were many springs on the land and flooding the area should not be a problem. He is worried about finishing the construction of the dike prior to the spring thaw because of the bog area.

The water level will be controlled by a log stop dam. The dam, about four or five feet tall, will be made of steel and located in the inside of the dike. A large culvert will run from the log gate under the dike for drainage of overflow water. The dam will also allow for complete drainage of the area when it becomes necessary.

$14,000 Drop

New London Fire Loss Down in '64

NEW LONDON — Loss from fires here declined about $14,000 in 1964 compared to 1963, according to Fire Chief Al Schaefer.

Schaefer said the figures do not include loss figures from 32 calls outside the city. The department made 91 emergency runs during 1964 compared to 80 during the same period in the previous year.

Schaefer said the loss figures were compiled from insurance facts so some losses will be carried over into this year's total.

Total loss to buildings and contents amounted to $17,889.79 in 1964, compared to $31,871.71 in 1963, a drop of $13,981.92. In 1963 $1,003.48 was reported as living expenses resulting from fire damage to a dwelling while none was reported in the past year.

No Deaths

No deaths were caused by fire in either year, Schaefer reports. The department answered 19 residential calls in 1964, compared to 20 the previous year.

The biggest increase was to grass and brush fires which went from four in 1963 to 14 last year. The department made four runs to mercantile area fires compared to two the previous year; six to factories in 1964 compared to three in

Delay Talks on Port Contract At Winnebago

North Central Asks Postponement Until CAB Judicial Review

OSHKOSH — Postponement of negotiations for a new contract with North Central Airlines until after the judicial review of the Civil Aeronautics Board decision was approved by the aviation committee of the Winnebago County Board Tuesday night.

The postponement was requested by John Dow, secretary and properties manager of North Central.

Dow agreed in a telephone conversation relayed to Chairman Alvin Stafford, Neenah, that the contract when reached would be retroactive to Jan. 1. His request came in reply to a letter from the committee inquiring when information on the contracts North Central has with other airports might be received. Dow had promised to send such information when he met in December with the committee.

Asks Increase

The committee is asking for an increase in the landing fees and for information as to what expansion might be necessary for North Central quarters in the terminal building.

Dow had indicated at the December meeting the airline would be agreeable to 5 percent increase in its landing fees and to changing flat rate per landing to a rate for each 1,000 pounds of gross weight landing.

Dow pointed out then that Winnebago County could not expect the same rate paid at Brown County's Austin Straubel Field because the latter field generated more revenue and had facilities not available at the Winnebago County Airport.

Tax Payment Office Hours Set at Waupaca

WAUPACA — Mrs. Harriet T. Ward, city clerk-treasurer, has announced that her office will be open from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday for taxpayers who still want to make partial payment of their 1965 real estate taxes.

Mrs. Ward noted that at least one-half of the taxes must be paid by Jan. 31 to come under the program. The second payment will be due July 31 at the county treasurer's office.

Wolf River Commission Chairman Cites Community Effort at Annual Association of Commerce Meeting

WAUPACA — Waupaca businessmen were urged to continue their drive to better their community at the annual meeting of the Waupaca Association of Commerce Tuesday night at the Waupaca Country Club.

Gordon Bubolz, guest speaker and chairman of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, declared that progress of the entire Wolf River Basin, of which Waupaca County is a part, depends on the growth of the communities within its boundaries.

Speaking not only of the city but the entire county, Bubolz said, Waupaca is one of the most aggressive areas of the Wolf River Basin. The county is setting a precedent in planning for the future, he added. As examples he cited the Mukwa Marsh project and a project now underway between New London and Northport.

"Era of Bigness"

"This is an era of bigness and communities must be organized," Bubolz said, "and it is up to the Association of Commerce to see that organization is carried out."

Bubolz explained the purpose of the Wolf River Basin Planning project and the progress made in the eight counties which are a part of the unit.

Pres. Paul R. Niles presided at the meeting and introduced four new directors along with Clifford E. Johnson, 1965 president. New directors are Richard Lienhard, Earl Larson, Melvin Mather and Dale Simpson.

Holdover directors are Frank Egan, Robert Knerr, Carl Carlson, Ivan Huffcutt, Merle Pennebecker and Foster Diley.

G. H. Stordock, secretary, reported that 5,491 personal inquiries and 2,003 mail inquiries were handled through the information booth maintained throughout the summer by the association. Stordock also told of the new brochure. It already has received compliments from many other community civic groups.

Annual Report

A 17-page annual report was distributed to the more than 85 association members present.

Johnson, the new president, asked the cooperation of the group in attempting to better the city of Waupaca and the surrounding area.

Niles, past president, said retail business in Waupaca County increased more than $5 million to a new high of $55,910,000 in 1964 alone with a total income increase of $4,398,000 or $197 for each person of the county. With Waupaca doing its share in contributing to future growth, this figure can be topped next year, he said.

Savings, Loan Assets Go Over $2 Million Mark

Gain of $250,000 Reported at Annual Meeting in Waupaca

WAUPACA — Assets of the Waupaca Savings and Loan Association increased $250,516 last year to put the association over the $2 million mark for the first time. Total assets now stand at $2,214,149.

The increase was reported to the stockholders at 42nd annual meeting Monday at the Waupaca Country Club.

R. E. High, secretary-treasurer, reported that savings and investment accounts now total $2,085,504. Other increases reported for 1964 were $384,947 in loans, $270,557 in savings, $5,932 in legal reserve, $2234 in undivided profits $9,984 in gross operating income and $6,563 in dividends paid.

At a 4 percent rate, $73,950 was paid in dividends. A total of $700,135 has been paid in dividends since the savings and loan was organized.

1,421 Members

There are 1,121 savings members and 300 borrowers for a total of 1,421 members, High reported.

Last year 44 mortgage loans were made totaling $353,642. Loans in the last 42 years total $4,845,226 with a loss of less than $200.

All of the officers and three directors were re-elected. The officers are Philip Teisberg, president; Wesley D. Milius, vice president; Darold Kramer, vice president; R. E. High, secretary and treasurer; Vance E. High, assistant secretary-treasurer; and Richard E. Johnson, attorney. Directors re-elected were Milius, R. E. High and Vance E. High. Hold over directors are Teisberg, Oscar Sellin, R. E. Johnson and Kramer.

Would Add Assurance

Capt. Bardon said that if the unit is brought up to full strength this will be better assurance that it will be retained during the present reduction of National Guard and Reserve units.

Young men without prior military service, between the ages of 17 and 36 years old, can enlist in the Waupaca National Guard providing the can meet the physical and mental requirements, do not have a police record, and have not received their induction notice. Capt. Bardon said.

Even though a young man has been called to take his induction physical he still is eligible to join the National Guard, Capt. Bardon pointed out. He said there has been some discussion about eliminating the draft but this is not in the immediate future as draft quotas for 1965 have been increased by 40,000.

Can Keep Rank

Men with prior military service can, in most cases, enlist with their former rank, he said. Offices at the Armory are open daily and anyone who has any questions about the National Guard can contact S-Sgt. Myron E. Halstead, who will be on duty.

The National Guard unit in Waupaca is actually a small business, employing more than 65 part-time men and one full-time man, bringing in almost $40,000 annually in the community. Wages paid in 1964 total $32,759. Capt. Bardon said other expenditures in the community were $4,400 annual armory and garage rent paid to the city, $385 for state funded construction and another $1,529 spent for miscellaneous items.

Bill Carpenter, Shilston High School senior, works plaster into the wire frame of a statue of a horse he is making. Richard Leith, art instructor at the school, said if the steps were to be carried on further, a sand mold would be made after the statue was finished and then a bronze or steel statue made. ### Communities Seek New Sources

Dollar Quest May Lead to Local Taxes

Wisconsin communities searching for new avenues to raise revenue may ultimately have to consider a local sales or income tax.

That there are few other alternatives was expressed Monday by Ed Johnson, executive director of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

Johnson spoke on potential legislative proposals and fiscal matters at a daylong meeting of mayors and other officials from Fox River Valley cities.

Priebe Outlines

He said some state legislators are talking of introducing a bill which would give local governments permission to have local tax options.

This was confirmed by Kenneth Priebe, who represented

Gov. Knowles at the meeting. The governor has recommended local options be granted.

Johnson made no recommendations and merely mentioned local sources, other than property taxes, by which money could be raised by municipalities. They included:

—A local sales tax on top of the Wisconsin sales tax.

—Local gas taxes.

—A municipal income tax.

Johnson said there are not too many sources available to raise enough money to lower property taxes.

"You are talking about a sizeable amount of money when considering property tax relief," Johnson declared.

He said the $15 to $20 million raised annually through the state motor vehicle department sounded like a lot of money, but explained it wouldn't make much of a dent in relieving property taxes.

"I am sure the members of the state legislature would appreciate your views concerning local options," Johnson told the officials.

Freehlich Proposal

Assemblyman Harold Freehlich of Appleton said it was time Wisconsin shifted from shared taxes and aids to additional local options to raise revenue.

For example, he said a city could levy a ½ or 1 per cent sales tax, or a county could have a $10 auto tax.

"Ways of raising revenues should be left to local option completely," Freehlich said.

In touching on other fiscal matters, Johnson said: —Legislation is being drafted to restore the $5.2 million taken from sales tax revenue this past year for aid to the aged, but it should take a number of months before the bill comes out of committee.

—The League took a dim view of making it optional for communities to use the property tax refund for general purposes.

—Automobile users are "getting off cheap" in Wisconsin compared to other states when it comes to paying for roads and highways.

—At every session of the legislature the state is taking money out of the fund and highway aids to local communities are shrinking.

WEA Backs Plan For 4-Year Schools

Teacher Group Also Endorses Vocational Program Expansion

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The Wisconsin Education Association, principal voice of organized education in state affairs, has informed the state legislature that it supports the proposals of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education for the establishment of new state-supported institutions of higher education.

The resolution of the Association directed to the lawmakers did not mention the localities involved, but the effect of the endorsement was to support the plan for the creation of two new four year university-level institutions in the Fox River Valley and the Racine-Kenosha areas.

Bills authorizing such action are expected to be considered in the current legislative session.

Vocational Training
The association also published a declaration that echoed some of the recent statements of Gov. Warren P. Knowles, when it urged consideration of more educational service for non-liberal arts instruction beyond the high school.

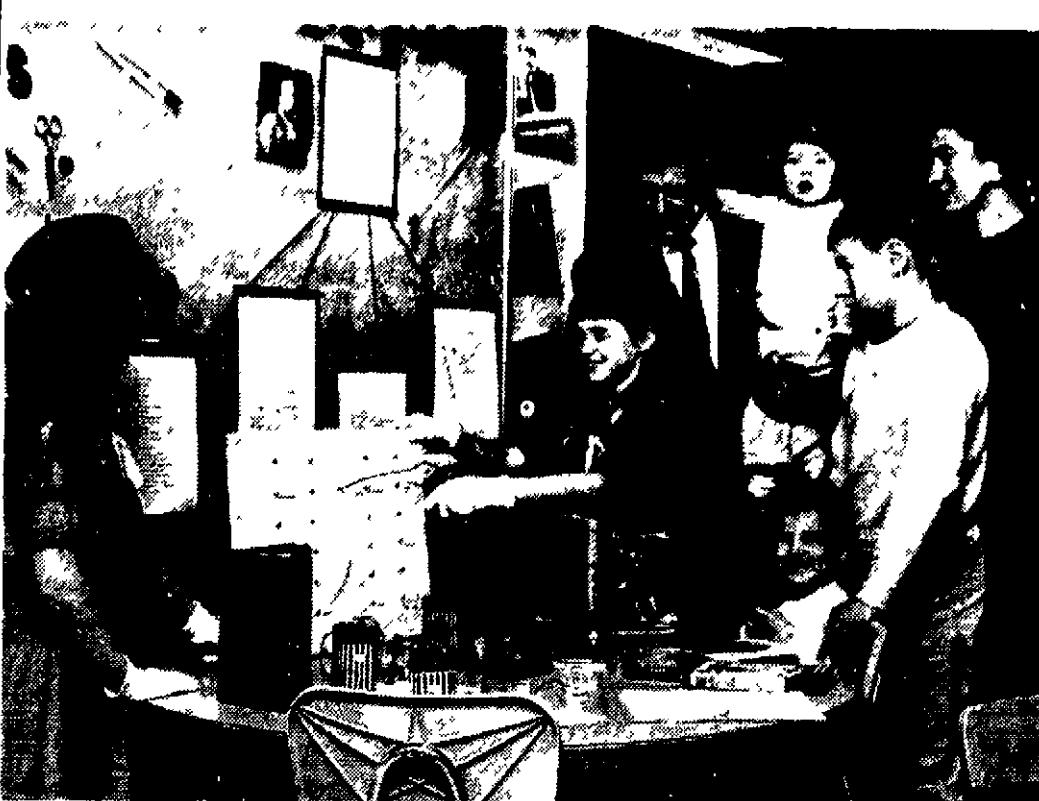

"We urge that programs be planned and implemented which will lead to the rapid development and improvement of educational and vocational programs for those who do not qualify or have no desire to pursue a college program," the WEA said.

Meanwhile legislators reported receiving the first expressions from northeastern Wisconsin communities on the plans for the creation of a new institution there.

Two such petitions, entered upon the legislative journals, were recorded at the Tuesday session of the Wisconsin assembly.

A petition from the Manitowish Women's Club declared in favor of a northeastern branch of "the University of Wisconsin," although the Coordinating Committee has thus far skirted the question of whether such an institution should be a part of the University at Madison or the state university system which now has nine institutions throughout Wisconsin.

Tavern League Fights 'Implied Consent' Law

Seen as Danger Sign To Knowles' Program For Highway Safety

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The first danger signals for Gov. Knowles' bold program of highway safety legislation were observed in the legislature today when the Tavern League of Wisconsin declared its opposition to the governor's bill proposing a so-called "implied consent" law.

Under such a law, now effective in some other states, a driver arrested for intoxication would be required to submit to a chemical test or surrender his driving permit.

The trade association of tavern keepers denounced the measure as a clumsy effort to deprive individuals of their constitutional protection against self-incrimination.

The presumption of intoxication according to a chemical test would be a mistake, the organization said, "because no chemical test is an infallible method of determining drunkenness."

"So many other factors, such as tolerance for alcohol, habituation, body chemistry and others, make clinical determinations inaccurate," said J. J. Rohrer, public relations director for the organization.

"Many individuals would be punished unfairly," he added. "Authorities have no problems in obtaining convictions under our present laws. Prosecution of the apprehended drunken driver poses no problem. What is needed is a program of safety education that will modify the behavior of the drinking driver," he said as he disclosed his plans to fight the implied consent bill.

Legislative observers expected that the League's announcement position will be joined by allied beverage and liquor interests, which together compose a substantial body of lobbying force in the state legislature.

The implied consent bill is one of the key measures in a seven-point "get tough" program.

Kaukauna Resident Hospitalized With Facial Injuries

Hospitalized at Appleton Memorial is Ronald VandeHey, 19, route 2, Kaukauna. He was taken to the hospital by Lindy's Ambulance Service for treatment of face and ear cuts.

Details of the fight which may have involved four Green Bay men and a woman at the Starlite Bar, route 2, Kaukauna, are unknown.

Outagamie County Traffic Patrolman Stanley Arnold, who ordered four tavern patrons held overnight in the Outagamie County jail for further questioning, said today he planned to question the four to determine how VandeHey was injured.

Names of the four were not released pending completion of the investigation.

Bob Hope and Troupe Welcome Fringe Benefit of the Military Life

BY MICHELE MATHEWS LEBER

SUBIC BAY NAVAL BASE, Philippines—Bob Hope has become one of the fringe benefits of military life. He brought his annual Christmas show here. Though the atmosphere and audience were more relaxed than at recent shows in Viet Nam, the appreciation and applause were just as great. (The comedian himself was probably more relaxed. "I've been fired at while we were doing one of these USO shows," he remarked. "What really bothered me was that it was in Akron, Ohio.")

For us, the show was well worth the early rising, four-hour trip by car from our Sangley Point homes, and sunburns acquired after three hours in the mid-day sun.

Big Port
For men of the 7th Fleet, separated from families for the holidays, the show featuring five lovely ladies was an even bigger event. (The large natural harbor adjoining this naval base is port for many ships of the fleet operating in the South China Sea.)

Hope was the show, and he endeared himself most by spoofing his audience's service and duty stations. ("This is really a country club. For punishment

Propose Plan To Distribute Farm Surplus

Would Pave Way For Long-Term Overseas Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — R. Robert Kastenmeier and Sen. Gaylord Nelson, Wisconsin Democrats, proposed legislation today to authorize long-term commitments on overseas seals and gifts of farm commodities normally in surplus.

"This new authority will give emphasis to the use of our surplus stocks in meeting world food needs," Kastenmeier said. "It will also build new markets for our abundant farm products."

The bill would give new commitment authority to the agency for international development, which administers food for peace and other assistance and market development programs overseas.

Buy Commodities
It would permit the Agriculture Department to buy commodities on the open market, at above support prices, when essential to meet the aid commitments.

"Authorizing aid to make commitments of up to five years would remove the uncertainty of supply that nations and private relief agencies now face in trying to plan long-range projects involving U.S. commodities usually in surplus," Nelson said.

The legislation, Nelson said, would carry out one of several recommendations dealing with foreign program supply needs made to Secretary of Agriculture Orville E. Freeman last month by his advisory committee on milk and dairy products.

Not In Surplus
Supplies moving overseas now are interrupted or cut back when commodities are temporarily not in surplus, Nelson said.

Under the proposed legislation, the new aid authorization would apply to all overseas programs normally using surplus commodities as well as to school lunch, preschool feeding, food-for-wages and other domestic programs.

Suddenly I Lost My Memory!

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique for acquiring a powerful memory which can pay you real dividends in both business and social advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, necessary self-confidence and greater popularity. According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by remembering accurately everything they see, hear, or read. Whether in business, at social functions or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can dominate each situation by your ability to remember.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in remembering anything you choose to remember, the publishers have printed full details of their self-training method in a new book, "Adventures in Memory," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Simply send your request to: Memory Studies, 835 Diversey Parkway, Dept. 241, Chicago, Ill. 60614. A postcard will do.

But best of all was Hope's use of a line that's not even his own.

"Sorry about that," dropped in and out of comedy routines here, has come to be an appropriate line for almost any occasion in Viet Nam, and its use has spread to military men throughout Southeast Asia. Hope's use of it seemed to put him on active duty.

On-The-Spot Filming
An added fillip was that this show actually came to us before it came to the states, no small matter in an area where we sometimes live for months without what you consider some of the staples of life (nail polish remover, aluminum foil, baby soap, rubber pants). The show we saw, in fact, was being filmed for later television showings.

Hope, wearing sport shirt, slacks and golf hat, carried a golf club and talked about his favorite sport and his regret at not having time to play the base course. ("I played with Frank Sinatra the other day — he's the best 3-iron I ever used.")

Instant Hits
Biggest attractions among the ladies of the troupe were Janis

Michele Mathews Leber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Mathews, 524 Outagamie Court, Appleton, is living in the Philippines with her Navy husband, Lt. T. T. Leber, and their two sons, Timmy, 3, and Todd, 1. Mrs. Leber was a summer member of the Post-Crescent editorial staff during her college years and a full-time reporter for several months after her graduation from Northwestern University. The Lebers have been living at Sangley Navy Base, across the bay from Manila, since last June.

Paige and Anita Bryant, both much more impressive on stage in glittering gowns than in blouses, slacks and head scarves, as they shopped beside us in the navy exchange just an hour before the show.

Best of all was Miss Bryant, an immediate hit as she put her own lyrics to "Hello Dolly", ending "The 7th Fleet is the only place to be." She soon entered the audience to sing to individual sailors, and leave them with a kiss.

Miss Paige, who wore a clinging gold lame dress when she joked, sang, and danced, with Hope, was an even bigger attraction later as a solo in a brief, red sequined outfit.

Others in the group were Jill St. John, who demonstrated current teen-age dances with sailors from the audience: Miss World, British Ann Sydney, and Anna Marie Alberghetti, who seemed out of voice and sang just one song rather badly.

Good Afternoon

With Hope were Butch Stone, John Bubbles, Peter Leeds and Jerry Colona, another veteran of the holiday tour whose patter with Hope as straight man could have been longer. (Your laundry just came back. "Oh — thanks." "They refused it.")

It was a good afternoon, from beginning to end, when we joined Anita Bryant in singing "Silent Night." ("On the second chorus I wish you'd all sing it made us feel remembered by 'Cause we're gonna film — and all the folks back home.

if you don't sing just move your mouth so we can put something in later.")

Most important, it accompanied its purpose even with those of us not on active duty — chorus I wish you'd all sing it made us feel remembered by 'Cause we're gonna film — and all the folks back home.

Home Front Gets Attention Of Johnson

Foreign Problems
Weren't Boiling
During Past Year

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — By a freak of history a president of the United States for more than a year has been able to concentrate almost entirely on home problems because foreign ones
weren't boiling.

Thanks to this, President Johnson, little disturbed from outside, was able to establish his administration, and after the presidential election, to prepare the budget and programs now going to Congress in a steady flow.

But time is running out for him in the foreign field.
The comparative tranquility he enjoyed can't last and, although he has proved himself a master politician at home, he still has to prove himself in the foreign field where he is least experienced.

Skipped Problems
He has left foreign problems so much in the background all this time by saying so little about them that they seemed minor. Just recently he skipped over them lightly in his inaugural and State of the Union speeches.

Yet, they haven't been minor even when they seemed dormant and Viet Nam, certainly, has been a steady problem, getting worse, and is now reaching a crisis. Today's Saigon Coup raises new problems.

How did it happen, then, that under Johnson domestic affairs dominated American thinking almost completely?

Directed Interest
Johnson, if only through his natural way of doing things, has directed public attention along the path he wanted by the twin policies of negation and affirmation.

(It's the way he tries to get things done at home: by playing up needs and playing down conflicts.)

Throughout his administration
he has wished to focus attention on a grand scheme of American development — he calls it the Great Society — and has spent his time urging unity for prosperity and against poverty.

That's the affirmative method.

It's constructive, creative,
and can expect popular support, which he always seeks, for hardly anyone can oppose a greater prosperity in which everyone is intended to share.

Somewhat Remote
Foreign problems, except for direct or immediate threat to the United States, always seem a little remote. Johnson has made them seem more remote, and perhaps less important, by saying little about them.

That's the method of negation.
And the best example of it in operation is Viet Nam where the American-backed war against communism has been disintegrating.

Johnson hasn't said much publicly about Viet Nam. The problem there would be far higher in the American consciousness now if he had emphasized the crisis by pronouncements or warnings or by stating American policy there in unmistakable terms.

A Mish-Mash
As it is, even with disaster just around the corner unless there is a sudden turn in policy or events, that vital little country in Southeast Asia seems more a mish-mash than a crisis.

It is getting so out of hand, and this country has such a stake in it, that Johnson cannot delay much longer in getting involved in it up to his neck.
Whether he does it publicly or quietly is up to him.

How he does it should reveal much of the way he will handle foreign policy for the rest of his presidency, or the way he'd like to handle it. He can get tough, quietly or publicly, or he can be wishy-washy.

This will be his first big test in foreign affairs.
